PROLOGUE

"Where's the action?" That is the password of a generation on the move — ours. The action is all around. We follow it and we create it. Action is all-important. It is the manifestation of ideas and the application of principles and concepts. Our action is representative of everyone of our group, but it is also unique. It is confined to this place and this time, to these people.

We hope the action is here — in this book. In our efforts to create a yearbook, we have defined it as a photographic essay. As such it must present ideas, define them, and relate them to life. This year is unique. Some of it must be remembered; some is better forgotten. But all of us have special moments that will live forever in our minds and hearts. OGB has tried to capture these moments.

OLD GOLD BOOK considers action important. We have recorded history. Since everyone concerned will have a different viewpoint, we have emphasized events, not people. But it is people who make the events, certainly. Using our outline of the action, you may fill in your own important people. To us, every student is the unique element, capable of surprising attitudes, actions, and reactions.

We are not telling you what to remember. This book is simply an essay comprised of varying ideas and viewpoints. Perhaps they coincide with yours; perhaps not. Their significance lies in their ability to stimulate your own thoughts and memories. This book is intended as a springboard for further reflection, not as a rigid mold. Regard it as such, and you may come to love it as do those who compiled it.

This is the year that . . . Khrushchev was ousted, Faubus was reelected to an unprecedented sixth term, Amendment 55 (legalized gambling) was defeated, Civil Rights Bill passed, War Between the States was over for a hundred years, Churchill died, Johnson won over Goldwater, the Viet Nam crisis heightened, the Cardinals won the World Series, China got the A-Bomb, the U.S. won thirty-six gold medals at the Tokyo Olympics, Hot Springs built a new city auditorium and started plans for Enchanted Hills, the Razorbacks were Number One, and 1,427 students celebrated Hot Springs High School's golden anniversary by attending classes.

Nothing Gold Can Stay

*Nature's first green is gold,
Her hardest hue to hold.
Her early leaf's a flower;
But only so an hour.
Then leaf subsides to leaf.
So Eden sank to grief,
So dawn goes down to day.
Nothing gold can stay.*

— Robert Frost

Trees teach a lesson in life. The first golden greenness and blossoms, like innocence, quickly pass to leaves, symbolizing awareness and maturity. The constant growth and change, eternal death and rebirth give basis for hope for the future. At any time, the trees are lovely things. At any time, life has golden moments — happy scenes in gay places, tender moments against a golden backdrop, bittersweet recollections of things too quickly gone.

How few are those who appreciate the precious gift of golden youth. How fortunate are those who do, for their awareness increases their capacity for life. The reflection of golden moments has deeper luster if their memory is clear. This clarity comes from the search for happiness and from the joy of life.

Youth passes all too soon. It cannot stay: nothing gold can. With maturity, life assumes complications that can overshadow its golden moments. But the moments still exist. The youthful heart will find them, for they are reality. Golden youth may fade, but the indomitable spirit of the quickly-passed days lives on to find golden moments each new day.

Dedication

A year is a short time—but time enough for us to meet new people, have new experiences, learn a little more. Sometimes the going is rough; that is when we need someone to listen — and help. Sometimes the world couldn't be better; then we want someone to share it with. And when it is time for serious thought and study, we need an intelligent teacher and firm guide.

Mr. Beam is all these. In one short year he has proved himself to be a good teacher. We students admire him for his intelligence and ability to communicate, respect him for his judgment and firmness, and love him for himself and his attitude toward us as people.

We recognize his outstanding qualities, and as a vote of confidence for his future, dedicate the 1965 Old Gold Book to Mr. Loyde Beam.

HOT SPRINGS HIGH

... after 50 years atop the hill

retary; (standing) Dr. Frank Burton; Houston A. Brian; Hugh L. Mills, superintendent; and J. Harold Smith.

Board of Education runs system smoothly

Who knows better than a parent and a citizen what the community expects its children to receive from its educational system? With this question in mind, the people of Hot Springs have elected six civic-minded men to serve on the Hot Springs Board of Education. Because the members of the Board of Education are family as well as civic leaders, they can view issues as parents and as interested citizens. The board serves as a mediating agency between the citizens and the educators of Hot Springs.

The Board of Education seeks constantly to improve the facilities and staff of the schools. Working closely with Dr. Mills and the administrators and the teachers, the board makes use of the newest information on educational trends to determine policies for the schools. A ten-year expansion program is now underway which calls for the construction of a new high school, demanded by the increasing enrollment.

With the best for the students always in mind, the members of the Board of Education strive to maintain the high standards that Hot Springs Public Schools have achieved. Their task is not easy, but they take satisfaction in observing a smoothly-run school system.

Superintendent makes progressive changes

For an organization to keep up with today's rapid pace of expansion, there must be a driving force in the form of a progressive and dynamic leader. Dr. Mills fills this position in the school system adequately because he takes a vital interest in this organization, understands its needs, improves its educational programs, and maintains high teaching standards.

Having played professional basketball for several years, Dr. Mills realizes the importance of strength in body as well as in mind. He has done much to develop the school system's physical educational programs and to equip the athletic departments of various schools. The Trojan athletic teams know that they will always have at least one loyal supporter in the grandstands — Dr. Mills — who will cheer in victory or in defeat.

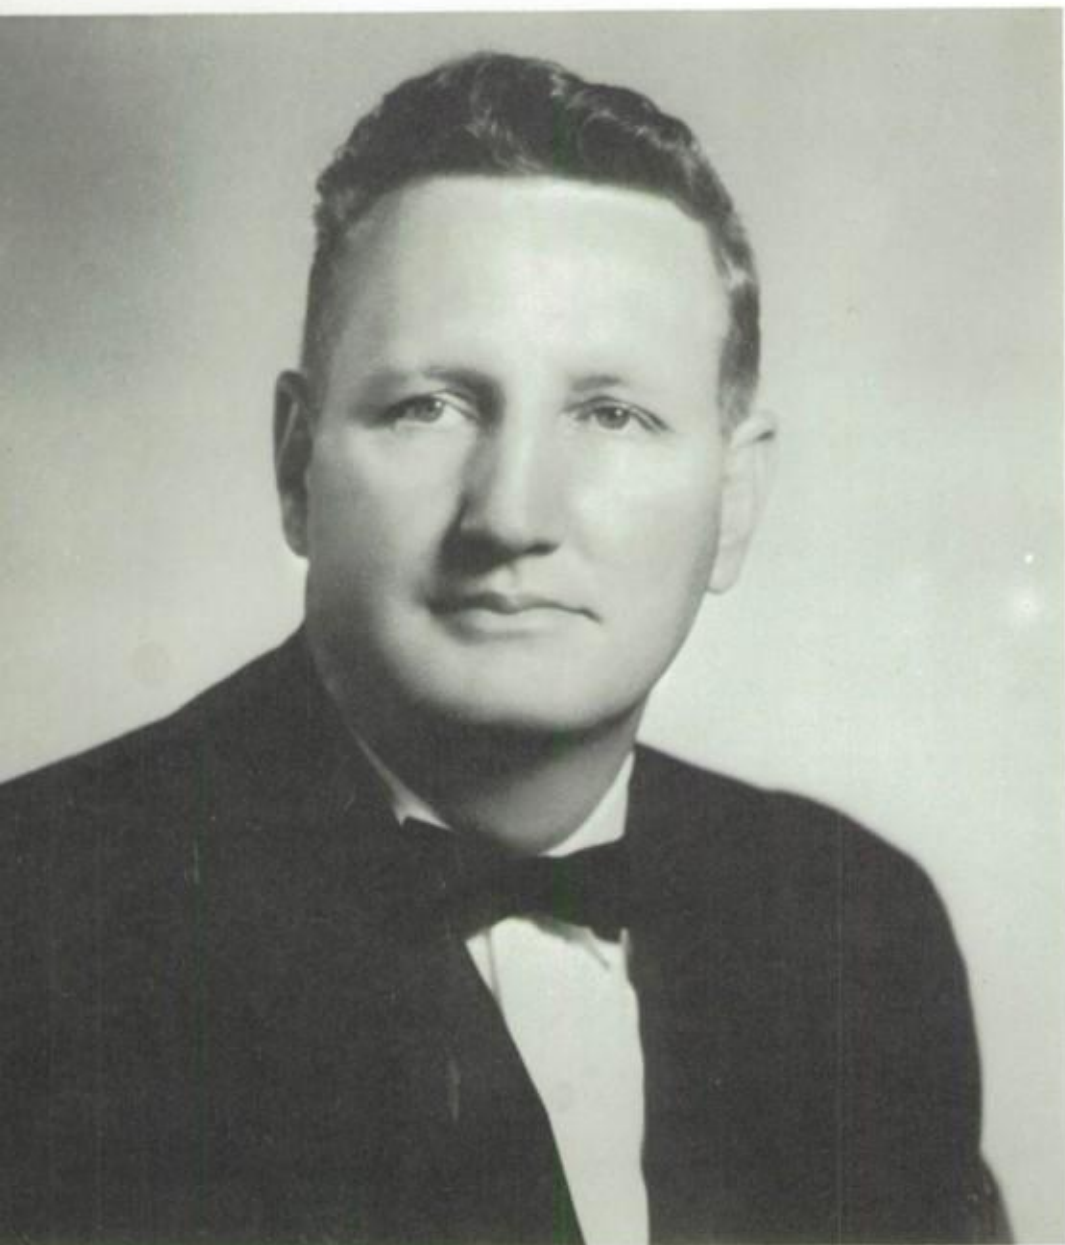

Because Dr. Mills has a family, he is well acquainted with the ups and downs in the day of a normal household. He knows that the molding of America's future citizens begins at home and that the development must continue in the schools. He promotes a hand-in-hand relationship between home and school.

FIRST EDITION. Robin Dever, Bill Love, and Mrs. Luebben, from the TORCHLIGHT staff, confer with Dr. Mills while editing HOT SPRINGS NEWS AND SCHOOL REPORT. Through this paper Dr. Mills sends special news to the board of education and to parents.

W. C. MEARS, M.A.
Director of Secondary Education

Director modernizes school's facilities

Who is responsible for the courses taught at HSHC? Who decides whether the curriculum is up-to-date? Operating from his office at Gulpha Gorge, Mr. Mears, director of secondary education, is the man in charge. His responsibility is to see that Hot Springs schools are in step with the modernization of education. His ingenuity prompted the organization of the mass history classes, which are designed to further an intensive course through the joint effort of teachers and students and with assistance from audio and visual aids.

Mr. Mears is also responsible for the interviewing of applicants for teaching positions.

Participating in the school's activities, Mr. Mears took films of every Trojan basketball game. These films were shown to the squad to help determine the weak spots in their defensive and offensive maneuvers.

Mr. Mears is respected and admired by all students that come in contact with him. Behind his warm, friendly smile beats a heart that understands the ups and downs of the modern young person. He is able to see issues from the student's point of view and always strives for the best for HSHS youth.

HONORED GROUP. Mr. and Mrs. Mears are seated by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Evans at the Junior Chamber of Commerce dinner, where Mr. Mears was presented the Outstanding Young Man of 1964 Award. It was also announced at this dinner that Mr. Evans had been chosen the Outstanding Young Farmer of Garland County. Mr. Mears was honored by another group as the Outstanding Elk of the Year.

Mrs. Mackey—Administrative Assistant

Dear to the hearts of all students at Hot Springs High School, Mrs. Mackey is the epitome of warmth. She radiates warmth in love for country and man and particularly for her young people. Her stern voice, which is easily recognized by the students of HSHS, is tempered well with a sparkling personality.

In addition to carrying the responsibility of this big school, Mrs. Mackey helps the office staff. Each morning before school starts, Mrs. Mackey's cheerful smile greets those who enter the office.

Mrs. Mackey's conference period is all day; she will always see anyone with school and other problems. Her most frequent visitors are leaders of the student body and other students who are having difficulties with their courses or with personal adjustments.

Being greatly interested in the community, Mrs. Mackey is a member of various community boards. Among these are the Anti-Poverty Board, the Citizens' County Planning Commission, and the Mayor's Youth Council to combat delinquency. She is also chairman of the Arkansas Girls State Board and an active member of the Garland County Library Board.

MRS. HARRIS MACKEY, A.B.
Administrative Assistant

SINCERE PATRIOT. "For God and Country we associate ourselves," declares Mrs. Mackey to a hushed, impressed audience during Americanism Week.

C. B. HAYNIE, M.A.
Assistant Principal

DOYLE COE, M.S.
Assistant Principal

Assistant Principals pursue duties expertly

The assistant principals, Mr. Haynie and Mr. Coe, are two of the busiest administrators in the Hot Springs school system.

When a teacher has any suggestions about improving his classroom, the man he should see is Mr. Haynie, who supervises the maintenance of the school buildings, grounds, and equipment. Although Mr. Haynie handles disciplinary problems, his friendly smile and youthful personality have won him the favor of the students. He officiates at most of the student activities.

Mr. Coe, head of the mathematics department, not only teaches classes all day but also supervises Lee School and sees that it is informed about everything that happens up at the big house. He reports absentees and handles minor disciplinary problems that arise. All this gives him a full-time job; but he, nevertheless, always finds time for his classroom activities.

OFFICE ASSISTANCE. Mr. Haynie makes announcements on the P. A. system and then relays them to Mr. Coe at Lee.

Office Staff keeps order in chaos

Keeping tab on about fourteen hundred students each day is no easy task, but the office staff manages to do it. Through the efforts of the office staff, Hot Springs High School is operated with efficiency and kept running no matter what disasters or catastrophes befall its red brick walls. The office is an information center that holds the answers to the thousands of questions that students must ask during the course of each school day.

With the installment of a new interoffice communication system, mandates from Mrs. Mackey and Mr. Haynie to the administrative office and the guidance office are delivered with time-saving precision. The office assistants are the "runners" who distribute office memorandums and collect absentee slips all over the big school and Lee School.

Without its office staff, the school would be chaos. Before any student leaves the school, he must check out in the office. Besides recording absentees, the staff is responsible for keeping permanent records up-to-date, copying transcripts, make out tardy permits, and carrying out every bit of red tape that goes along with the operation of a senior high school.

Student Council voices student opinion

COIN COLLECTOR. Student Council treasurer, Diane Qualls, removes money from a bottled-drink machine. These vendors are the major sources of revenue in the Student Council fund-raising program.

Active is a mild word used to describe this year's student council. This organization ran all of the school's elections — homecoming queens, King and Queen of Hearts, student council officers — in addition to revising the Hot Springs High School Code of Conduct. Assemblies for Thanksgiving and Christmas, as well as fine regular assemblies were planned by the Student Council.

Traveling to Fort Worth, four representatives of the student body, Mrs. Mackey, Mr. Haynie, and other civic leaders, observed a teen-age jury in action. With the approval of the city officials, this program was successfully initiated in Hot Springs, and its future is bright.

Giving teen-agers a chance to air their opinions, a program in KZNG began with the first of school. On every other Saturday afternoon, different controversial subjects are discussed by students, usually four or five in each panel.

Another first was the addition of the Trojan suggestion box. Into this, students place suggestions on any phase of student life. When at all possible, approval of the suggested change acknowledged these opinions of the student body.

A "Name-the-Trojan-Horse" contest was also sponsored by the student council. The committee chose "Tro-go" the winner from among many other good suggestions.

Student council funds are supplied by the income from the paper, pen, pencil, candy, ice cream, and coke machines. The student body appreciates and supports this program enthusiastically.

TEEN-AGE JURY. Jurors Jim Burton, Mike Warr, Ken Freeman, Pat Hilton, Diana Connelly, Teddy Orrell, Tim Bailey, Gaye Disheroon, and Hugh Mills listen intently as Judge Warneke briefs them before a trial. This year was the first for the student council-sponsored teen-age jury.

PROBLEM PROBERS. Panelists Greg Foster, Carl Boenker, Jim Monk, Glen Newkirk, and Mike Warr discuss controversial teen-age problems in a radio broadcast.

Panicky students rely on Counselors

"What am I going to do after graduation?" Students seek the answer in one of the busiest and most important departments in the school — the guidance office.

With college and university catalogs from all over the country and the newly-compiled vocational file, the office is well prepared to counsel a student about his future.

Sophomores receive sympathetic aid in adjusting to the amazing world of high school. This is the time when they first get to know the guidance counselor who will help them throughout their high school career.

The counselors also advise the juniors in planning their all-important senior year. To all the panic-stricken seniors who have indefinite college plans, these two are invaluable. From registration to graduation the counselors are available and interested.

Math geniuses compose Mu Alpha Theta

As members of Mu Alpha Theta, students pledge to promote the development of mathematics in relation to industry, science, and research.

Mu Alpha Theta sponsored a post-game dance, held a banquet for its members, presented a math award to the student scoring highest on a standardize test which the club gave, and awarded a scholarship to the most-deserving senior member of the club.

Prerequisites for membership are a scholastic grade average of B and five semesters of math.

Mu Alpha Theta members not only are mathematically inclined, but also excel in other studies. The majority of the members plan to be math majors in college and continue up the scale to the best-paid jobs.

PERSONAL GLIMPSE. Through the door is the private world of a classroom. Here students question, and seek to find their own answers.

Mathematics lays foundation for progress

Mathematics is the scientific study of numbers and, as with any science, can be mastered only through levels of study. HSHS offers these various levels ranging from algebra, business math, and mechanical drawing to plane geometry, trigonometry, and a college introduction to calculus.

The increasing complexities of the modern way of life, accompanied as they are by an extended reliance upon the science of mathematics, indicate that the well-educated citizen should have a working knowledge of the math, the science that will provide a foundation for progress.

Scientific progress

Sciences vary from the study of minute mushroom spores to the gigantic mushroom cloud of an atomic blast. The success of America depends upon future scientists — scientists who will discover a cure for cancer, who will send man to the moon and back, who will double crop output per acre, and who will control the wealth. Science is necessary for survival in this modern world.

Physics is a higher form of science for the more advanced students. Problems involving weight and force often emerged from the depths of conversations concerning college papers, tests and graphs. Harmonic motion was demonstrated by teacher and students when

Bio-Chem-Phy sponsors Science Fair

To become a member in Bio-Chem-Phy, a student must have had five semesters of science and must have maintained a B average. At monthly meetings throughout the year, the members met to plan and discuss club projects.

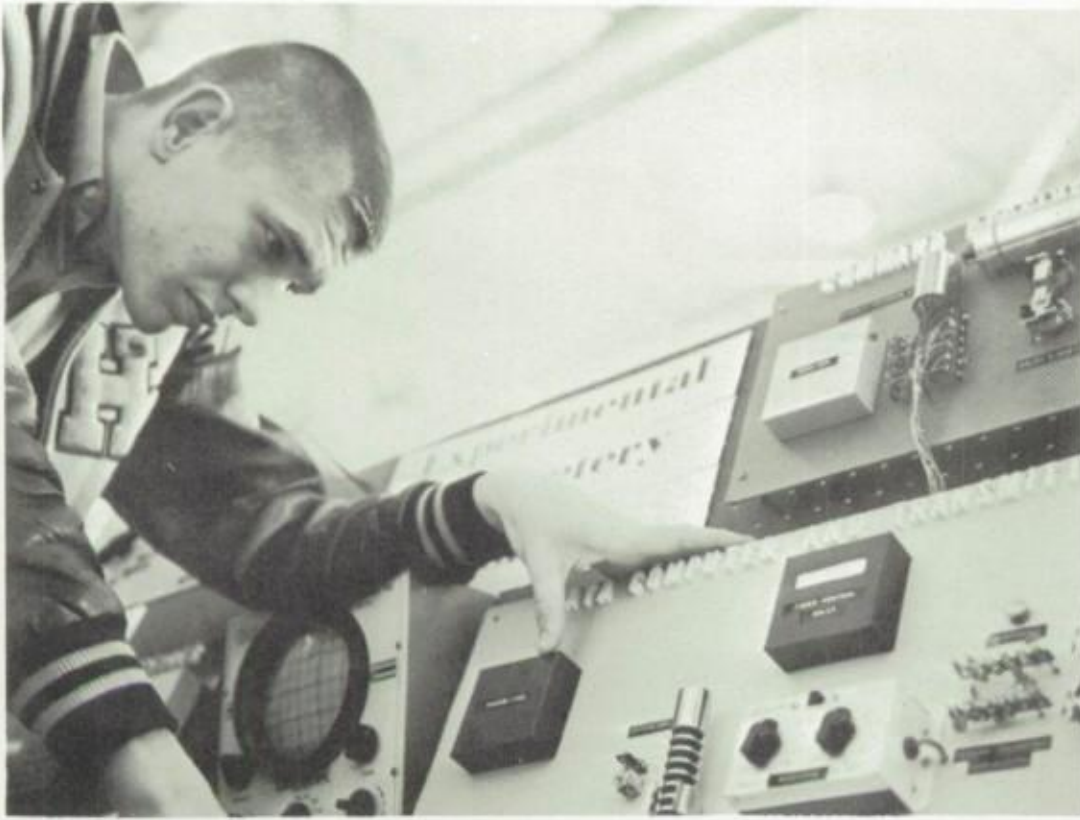

The club sponsored post-game dances, and awarded a scholarship to the outstanding senior member. To highlight the year's activities, Bio-Chem-Phy sponsored the Science Fair in the spring. Students entered experiments and exhibits in various divisions to compete for first, second, and third places. The first- and second-place winners were then eligible to enter the regional Science Fair at Ouachita Baptist University.

Solitude in libraries

Panic grips the juniors and seniors as they realize term papers are due. The result is a general stampede of students to the HSHS and the Garland County libraries.

Students take advantage of the school library not only for themes and special reports but also for the pleasure of just reading. An attractive bulletin board keeps students informed about the addition of new books. The library has a reliable selection of reference volumes and subscribes to a wide variety of magazines and periodicals. For students who do not have a study hall in the library, it remains open at lunch and after school.

The Garland County Library keeps its doors open on Monday nights to accommodate students who are unable to frequent the library in the afternoon that they may employ its facilities. Interested teachers are on hand to advise students on reading selections.

To escape from the hectic pace of the world for an hour, a student may seek solitude and a good book in the tranquil atmosphere which dominates the library. Here he can lose himself in a humid jungle; on a hot, dry plain with a sandy wind cutting his face; or in any other place in the world he wishes to go. His travels are limited only by his imagination and by the time he can stay in this wonderland of knowledge and entertainment.

SOLITUDE. Sheltered from the cluttered world outside, one may always find a world of his own through books.

COLOSSAL MESS. Juniors find the school library very helpful in writing their themes, but as usual they manage to make a mess of everything.

MACBETH MURDERED. Some students will do anything for extra credit. No exceptions are Richard Robbins, Glenn Newkirk, and Mike Baldwin, who donned makeshift costumes to give a surprisingly serious reading of the witches' scene from Macbeth.

Where besides in the senior "lit" classes can Beowulf, Macbeth, Hamlet, the Wife of Bath, and Eliza Doolittle be found hobnobbing with students? "I could have danced all night!" sings Eliza in the musical adapted from Shaw's play, Pygmalion. For the "literature" student, plays, poems, and stories light up a panorama across which flash such immortals as Julius Caesar, Sir Launfal, and Huck Finn.

How does one compose a love sonnet? Poets in the new creative writing class did not think they could; but with a gentle nudge from their teacher, they could — and did! — along with ballads, essays, epigrams, and diaries. This class furnished an outlet for pent-up emotions.

Grammar never ceases to challenge high school students with its gerunds, transitive verbs, and dangling participles. Mastery of some of its concepts and an emphasis on skills related to rhetoric absorb most of the time of composition classes.

Eighty strong, created this 1965 book

A staff comprised of about eighty people produced this OLD GOLD BOOK. This staff is composed of two main groups: the business staff, which sold books and made the money to pay for them, and the editorial staff, which was responsible for the content of the book. They selected a theme and executed it with pictures, captions, write-ups and layouts.

During the course of the year, common problems, common goals, and differences of opinion bound the members of the editorial staff together with extremely close ties.

Last summer four of the chiefs of staff and the adviser attended the annual Yearbook Workshop at Arkansas State Teachers College, where they proudly showed last year's All American and Medalist book. Future Journalists of America organized a state chapter during the workshop. Joining as state charter members were Diana Connelly, Carol Miller, Ann Nusko, and Becky Dean, who was elected state treasurer.

EARLY START. Just before the start of school, the OGB staff held a potluck at Mrs. Housley's lake home to discuss plans for the year.

AFTER HOURS. Carol and Diana keep working long after the 3:30 bell, deciding which pictures to use in the book.

CIRCULATION STAFF: Betty Bentz, Kathy Iacobacci, Carol Hallman, Beth Baber, Alice Robertson, Nina Lewis, Lobella Commer, Carol Austin, Barbara Hill.

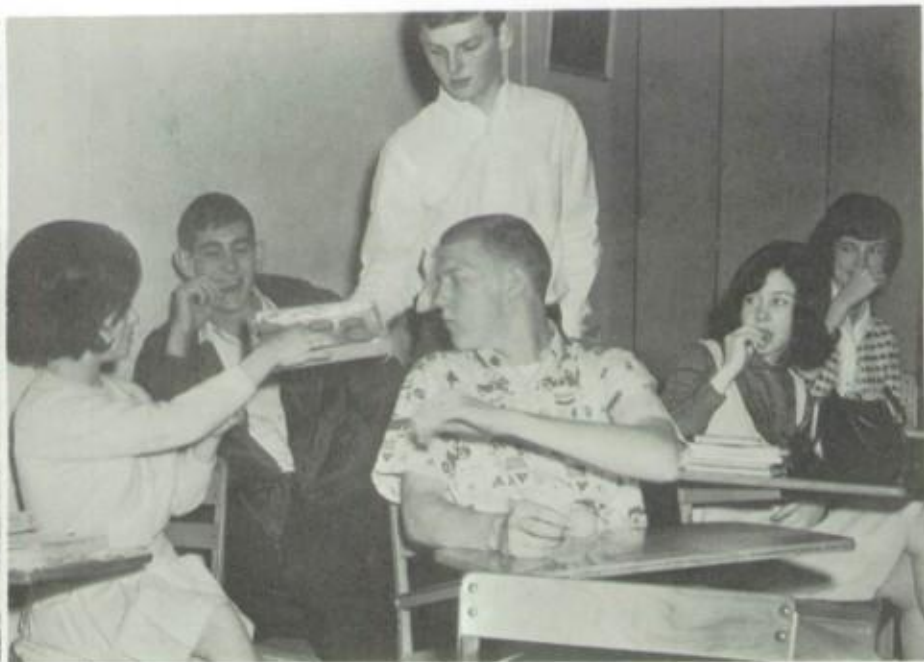

TYPING STAFF: Georgie Shelton, Sheila Hoffman, Carolyn Smith, Jo Williamson, Sharon Horne, Sandra Parkerson, Cherri Ellis.

Speech and Drama give students poise

Speech classes learned pronunciation through enunciation by use of the tape recorder. Special projects on phonetics were created for extra credit.

During drama class, music set the many moods for the history of drama through modern play production. Pageant wagons, periaktoi, and model stages cluttered the room during a year of dramatics.

In stagecraft, a relatively new class, the students undertook such projects as set construction for the two Thespian plays, the tableaux scenes for the Candlelight Service, and repair of the auditorium stage.

MAKE-UP SKILLS. Applying stage make-up is one of the many crafts taught in the drama department.

Candlight Service— Christmas pageantry

Somber air, white vestments over dark skirts and slacks, multicolored battery-operated candles, and an auditorium filled with people have come to mean only one thing — Candlelight Service at Hot Springs High School. People on the second floor — visitors — never see the fluttering of white angel-like wings on the third and fourth floors.

While the chorus sings the traditional Christmas carols, the drama department depicts the splendid events. The tableaux on stage glitter with solemn note, scene by scene, as the narrator tells the story of the First Christmas.

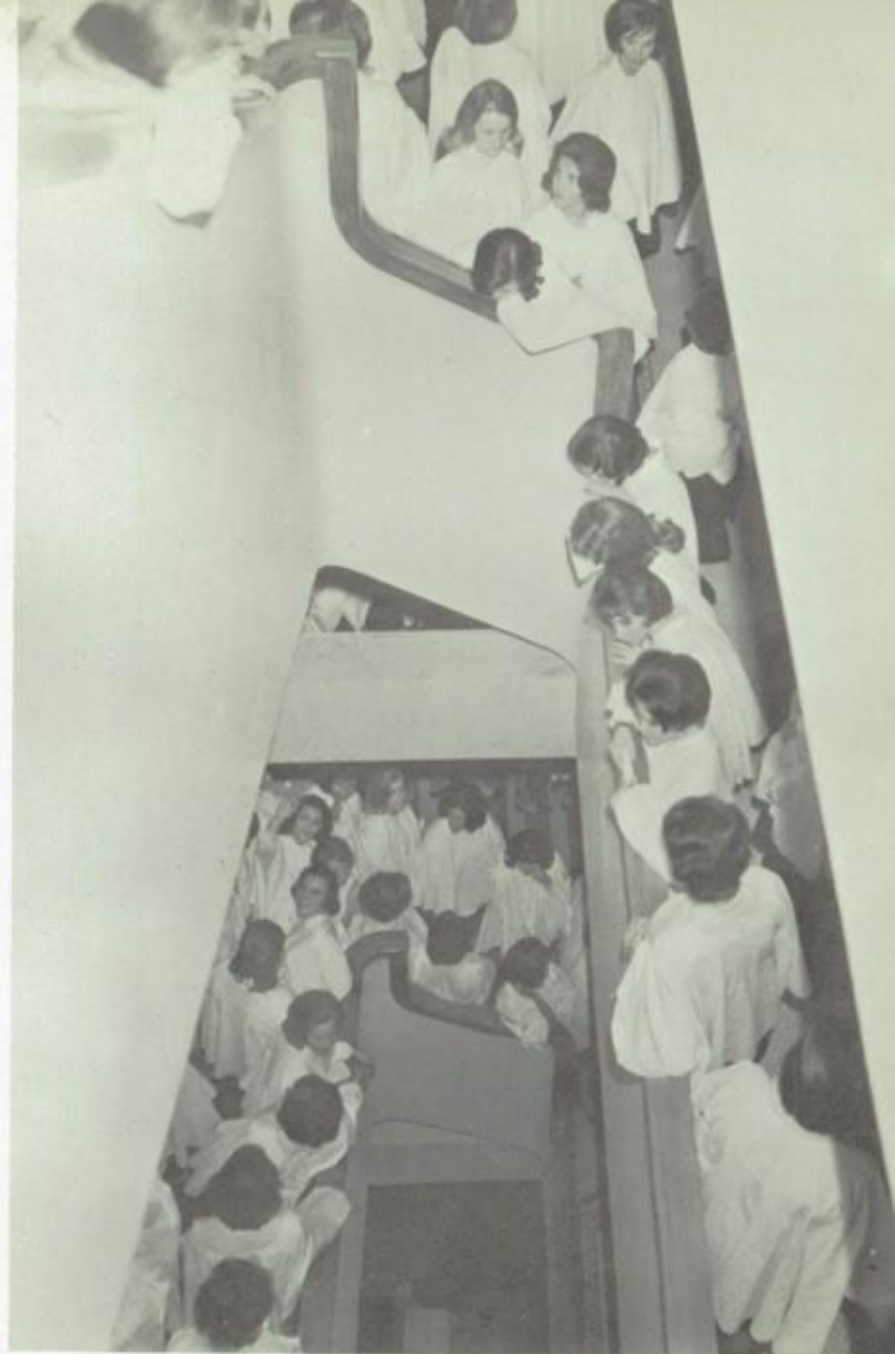

ANGELIC DEVIL. Pat Edwards' tennis shoes and devilish grin don't seem very angelic, but Larry Ault doesn't look much like a shepherd either.

BETWEEN SERVICES. White vestments and dark skirts and shoes can be seen on all four floors while the chorus waits for the second services of the night to begin.

SOUR TREAT. Isabel Burton is rather amused at Mike Warr's eating a lemon, but Mike's not choosy as long as it's food.

Hard work produces

LAST-MINUTE MAKEUP. Terry and Jim give Barbee some tips on his makeup before South Pacific.

BACKSTAGE BRIEFING. Mr. Schooley gives instructions concerning a play to onlooking Thespians, who realize that much goes into a production which does not meet the eye of the audience.

REALLY BIG "SHOE." During Parents Night, Barbara Hill distributes posters advertising the fall play.

Thespian perfection

Back in the misty eons of time, primitive man was a lonely creature unable to express his emotions except through guttural noises; through need, these sounds became words, and with words man could express himself in many ways, among which was drama.

Following the patterns set by ancient men, Thespians seek to express themselves through the art of drama. Their efforts are seen in production of two plays polished to perfection before presentation to audiences of students, friends, and parents. Heat of lights, smell of paint, and hard work are all part of their world.

Thespians form tableaux for the Candlelight Service every Christmas. Amid glitter and long costumes, they present beautiful Christmas scenes to the community while the Trojan Chorus sings traditional carols.

Twice yearly, members are selected as national members for initiation. Among the requirements is one hundred hours of work in the actual production of a play.

Hot Springs High School Thespian Troupe No. 78 is one of the oldest in the nation.

ASSOCIATE THESPIANS

MOONLIGHTING ACTORS. Thespians find other means to exhibit their talents than school plays. Several participated in the Community Players' production of South Pacific.

Latin classes recall glory of Rome

Ever dream of times and places gone-by? Ever wish to be rushed back to an era of majesty and grandeur? One way of achieving such a daydream would be to enroll in one of the many Latin classes. While students may be puzzled by Latin's declensions and conjugations, they are enthralled by its adventure and romance.

HSHS offers three years of Latin with comprehensive coverage of grammar and syntax. The first-year student is whirled into Jupiter's world of winged horses and immortality. Second- and third-year studies involve citizenship and Cicero, but all the classes share in the glory of Rome and lament her tragic fall.

Tapes and recordings increase realism, and good accents may be acquired from keen listening. A better understanding of the language and of the Empire is encouraged with graphic presentation of material on charts and maps.

WORK. Mental effort involved in Latin conjugations and translations makes students consciously appreciate their own language.

READY ANSWERS. Participation is an important part of classwork. Alert students listen and answer questions about daily translations.

JCL carries torch of classical civilization

As a member of the Junior Classical League, a student covenants to hand on the torch of classical civilization in the modern world. Any pupil enrolled in Latin classes is eligible for membership in JCL.

At the fall initiation, the officers presented a program, and the JCL oath was administered by a toga-clad president. In a later initiation, JCL second-year members assumed roles of Roman gods and goddesses for this once-a-year event and forced new members into performing humiliating feats.

ROMAN HOLIDAY. A featured event of the annual JCL initiation ceremony is a skit of Roman gods presented by old members.

Spanish Club pen pals aid foreign relations

Pen pal correspondence and money-raising projects in order to send a representative to Girls State are two of the various activities of the Spanish Club. Through correspondence, the linguists not only develop a better working knowledge of Spanish but also create a bond of friendship with their Spanish neighbors. In today's tense and progressive world, friendship bonds between countries are imperative for the peace of the world.

To join this organization, one must presently be taking Spanish and must maintain a C average. The meetings are the third Wednesday morning of each month.

This club enlightens its members in the uses of the Spanish language and the importance of understanding cultures of foreign countries.

Programs each month add to the interest and knowledge of the members. To the Spanish Club we say, "Sombreros off!"

Spanish Classes see films of Mexico

Students are challenged by the study of a language other than their own. Besides having the benefit of being able to understand and communicate with someone of a foreign tongue, a Spanish student experiences a deep feeling of satisfaction in having partially mastered another language.

Spanish students are transferred into a Spanish-speaking world of old and new. Spanish culture is vividly presented along with bright and colorful examples of daily life in order to help students better understand Spanish people.

Daily book use is often lightened by films of Mexico and tape-recordings. Magazines frequently are in competition with comic books when Spanish literature is the material for study.

Assets = Liabilities + Proprietorship. That equation just did not balance out at times! Bookkeeping students persevered and struggled through two practice sets during the year. By the end of the year in this class, $2 + 2$ actually began to seem equal to 5.

Thirty words a minute seemed impossible to the typing students; but by the end of the year, many were typing 40, 50, and even 60 words per minute.

In office practice, different clerical duties of office workers were demonstrated. Fluid processing, stencil cutting, offsetting, and photocopying were studied.

Practice makes the Trojan Band and Chorus

Trojan Band meets first period daily, and training band meets second period. This is a time for learning music for parades, concerts, and clinics. Sectionals of the band often meet after school for further practice.

O-o-o's and ah-ah's may be heard Monday through Friday, second through sixth periods. When Spring Concert time comes, chorus members practice out of class, and the result is impressive. Classes in music appreciation, harmony, or theory close the musical day.

Traveling Trojan Chorus praised statewide

"Speak up!" demands the Traveling Trojan Chorus in one of its opera-styled pieces of music. Acclaimed as one of the best in the state, the Traveling Trojan Chorus is composed of all members, including alternates, of Troubadours.

All girls in chorus classes must try out for Trouba-dours. Voice, grades, and character are the factors taken into consideration. A scholastic average of 85 is necessary to stay in Troubadours.

Toreadors are also chosen on a tryout basis. Their overall average must be at least 75. Temporary suspension is the penalty for slipping below a C average.

ON PARADE. Standing at attention, the Trojan Band waits for the whistle call that starts another pregame exhibition.

Music Department produces entertainers

German band, pep band, Stardusters, concert and parade bands all entertain. Each is a unit created for a specific purpose, and each functions self-sufficiently. Their presence is welcome at social events and essential at games and pep rallies.

Practical application of study is the true test of education. Class training is only preparation for the real purpose of the Trojan Band and Traveling Chorus. Employing concepts learned in school, the Troubadours and Toreadors entertain at social and business functions. The State Department of Education selected the Hot Springs Traveling Chorus to represent musical education in Arkansas.

IN CONCERT. In uniforms stripped of ornamentation, the Concert Band performs annually for student body.

to deliver impressive Spring Concert

As the curtain rose, a hush of admiration fell over the audience. Spread before these people was a tremendous panorama, which in a moment became alive with sound — magnificent sound. This year the presentation was a college program. The first half was of a religious tone, and the second half of semi-classical music was sung with as much dignity as the first one.

Tympani were used in this year's performance to highlight the medley of Vincent Youman's music. Another first was the presentation of "The Creation," a narration with the chorus as a background.

After the concert on the last night, Mrs. Ellis was presented with a spray of roses and two bottles of pink champagne by an appreciative Trojan Chorus.

of youth's modern world

"Go, Trojans!" to school sports fans is the favorite part of "Southern Special," which the pep band plays at all pep assemblies. At the end of each assembly, cheers abruptly cease, a hush flows through the field house, and then the melodic strains of the Alma Mater break the silence.

Street rallies show the rest of the town how many students are interested in school-supported sports events. The pep band also travels to out-of-town football and basketball games in order to carry a loyal spirit no other school can rival.

The Stardusters is a select stage band. By closing his eyes while listening to them play young adult music, one can be carried into another world of entertainment. Early in the year they presented a special program and later played in the Teacher Talent Show. In the spring they presented the Band Variety Show and played for adjudication among several stage bands of the district.

Each spring the band members choose new officers to fill the places left by graduating officers.

To become eligible for membership in the Band Key Club, a band member must complete one year of band work, participating in all of the band's projects and attending all of its practices.

TROJAN PEPBAND. White-suited band members are a familiar sight at Spring Street pep rallies. They provide beat and background for exuberant fans at games, too.

up for Histories

Before tardy bells ring each day for second, third, fourth, and fifth periods, about 150 students make their way toward the library. Mass classes this year are a "first." They are set up like college classes. Last summer, carpenters and other workmen labored to get the platform, lectern, and public address system ready for the new classes. American history and world history are the only mass classes this year with two teachers, one in each subject.

American history, world history, and world geography students become aware of the problems surrounding the world today. History students learn of past wars and their causes and ways of preventing more wars.

In world geography, the arrangement of the countries on the earth, resources of those countries, and cultures of the different countries are studied.

Economics is concerned with the description and analysis of the production, distribution, and consumption of goods and services.

American government acquaints pupils with the methods by which this country is run.

Arkansas history provides a student with an intimate appraisal of his state's history, industry, and resources.

BABY BATH. Learning how to be a good mother includes keeping baby clean.

Home Economics emphasizes family living

CHRISTMAS FEAST. Home Ec girls treat themselves to a turkey dinner in pre-holiday festivities.

Home economics implants in a girl the qualities that will prepare her for her roles as wife, mother, and homemaker. It is a complex subject, divided into many phases, such as clothing, good grooming, manners, food, buying, and housing. All of these relate to family living. The human element is always important in homemaking.

Purchasing and preparing food constitutes a major portion of the home economics program. Making a garment completes the study of clothing. Home management acquaints a student with difficulties encountered in operation of a home. Interior decorating adds a little color to the school's homemaking courses. To enlighten future wives and mothers, the department presents units of child care and marital problems.

Visiting furniture stores and a shoe factory provided an interesting diversion in this year's activities. Before Christmas each class had a buffet dinner featuring turkey which had been prepared in their kitchen. Early in the spring, classes presented a fashion show in which dresses and outfits that the girls had made themselves were modeled for the student body.

Although most girls are naturally good wives, mothers, and homemakers, they can become better. Home Ec provides that opportunity.

FHA promotes democracy through happy homes

"To face the future with high hope and courage," the creed by which a member of Future Homemakers of America must abide, clearly states the purpose of the FHA.

Beginning the year's activities, FHA held a potluck supper on the lake for its installation of officers. Several picnics ensued throughout the year, which gave the girls a chance to display what they had learned in class. The major event of the year was a pizza supper to which the parents of the members were invited. This presented Mom and Dad an opportunity to see what their daughter had achieved in class.

Among the many varied activities of this club was a dance which it sponsored. Every spring FHA looks forward to its state convention, which is held in Little Rock. This year Joelle Harris received the honor of being elected to a federation office.

Through Future Homemakers of America, HSHS provides training for youth in assuming leadership roles. In club participation girls have opportunities to work in a way that is impossible in the classroom. Members are united for better and happier living, and all agree that "helping to make happy homes, now and in the future, is the most important thing that youth can do for democracy."

DE and DO Classes enter business world

Eighty juniors and seniors who constitute the DE and DO classes go out into the workaday world of big business and put to use all they have learned in the classroom. This job-training program includes such subjects as human relations with employers and customers, store policies and systems, inventories and stock, credit policies and systems, advertising displays, and apprenticeship with different businesses and working men of the community.

The vocational program is sponsored by the federal government, and scholarships are offered to interested DE and DO students.

One of the many added attractions of the Distributive Education and Diversified Occupations classes is that students are able to earn money of their own. This year students' earnings totaled over $80,000.

"Check the oil?" This expression is heard each time one pulls into a service station. Auto mechanics training supplies students with the knowledge to locate the center of trouble in an ailing car. The boys learn the function and location of every nut and bolt in the machinery of the car. Students realize that a car is not a simple machine and that it is to be treated with all the care one can give it.

Driver's Ed strives for good driving etiquette

"Watch where you're going, buster!" "He must have gotten his license from Sears and Roebuck!" "You can always tell a lady driver!" These comments are commonly heard on today's roads. Most of these remarks come from hot-tempered people who cannot drive any better themselves, but occasionally they are deserved by those who receive them.

To avoid becoming this type of driver, students enroll in driver's education. These classes are taught only by qualified instructors, and students learn everything from the techniques of driving a car to changing a tire. Appealing to parents is the fact that most insurance companies offer reduced rates for teenagers who have taken Driver's Ed.

This class meets at Lee School and has a book and workbook in which the students work traffic problems. Although only a semester course worth half a credit, Driver's Education is practical education. Students go out in fours or fives to practice what they have heard in class and have seen in driver filmstrips.

Toothbrush peddlers attend FTA convention

"Toothbrushes for sale!" cried the Future Teachers as they peddled their wares down the corridors. The club sold toothbrushes and candy to raise money to send delegates to the state FTA convention.

New members were initiated in an impressive candle-light ceremony, and they were challenged to become members of one of the noblest professions as the new officers presented an inspiring program. At meetings throughout the year, various speakers repeatedly told the girls of the growing demand for teachers in modern society.

Toward the end of the year, the club selected an outstanding senior member possessing qualities of an ideal Future Teacher. Climaxing the year's activities, the FTA gave the teachers of HSHS a tea at which the members announced their selection of the Teacher-of-the-Year at HSHS.

SWEET REWARD. A cheeseburger feast is the club's treat for a winning float. To the victors go the spoils.

Anchor Club float wins parade prize

"Anchored We Hold." Throughout the year, Anchor Club members assumed a portion of the civic responsibilities which will confront them in years ahead as adult citizens. Contributing funds and services for March of Dimes, ringing bells for the Salvation Army, joining in the Cystic Fibrosis Drive, and visiting rest homes were only a few of the service projects in which the club participated.

Highlights for the year were a progressive dinner for Career Club, a brunch for Crown Club, and Pilot Club's annual Christmas parade, in which Anchor Club won first prize.

Key Club operates car wash

MAINTENANCE MEN. Key Club service projects include polishing trophies and cleaning the cases.

ORGANIZED CONFUSION. Car washes at Mrs. Mackey's house are a source of income for industrious Key Club members.

Want to know why there are no dirty cars in Hot Springs? The Key Club opened a car wash and cleaned up the town as it cleaned up the profits. This was only one of the year's varied activities. The boys also sold first-aid kits, sponsored Dad's Night, and held the annual New Year's Eve Dance.

The Key Club symbolizes character, leadership, and responsibility in young men. Sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, Key Club strives to better the school and community, and any member will say that there is plenty of fun too.

Boys may apply for membership in Key Club during their sophomore year if they achieve and hold the required C average. Key Club meets on Monday night once a month at the Arkansas Power and Light Company.

Career Club works for the community

Working at the Crippled Children's Clinic, filling food baskets at Christmas, marching for Cystic Fibrosis, making tray favors for Ouachita Hospital, stuffing Tuberculosis envelopes, selling Easter lillies to help crippled children, and working for the March of Dimes, Career

Club members help their community just as they have since the club was chartered in 1960. But all is not work. Besides sponsoring open dances, these girls have teas, banquets, parties, and brunches.

Crown Club makes debut

Hot Springs High has a new club for girls, which becomes the third of the girls' service organizations. Through Mrs. Mackey's efforts and the interest of the Junior Auxiliary, this "baby" club emerged and was named Crown Club by charter members.

Although members were busy building foundations of the club, they found time to do their duties as a service organization. Members marched in the Mothers' March of Dimes for the Jones School District and helped turn in the largest amount in Jones' history. Distributing posters for the Garden Club, parading in the annual Pilot Club parade, and ringing bells for the Salvation Army are some projects the club participated in this year.

AMPHIBIOUS FIGHTERS. Taking the bad weather in stride, Crown Club members — Carolyn Tedford, Linda Hefley, Barbara Bond, and Myra McEarl — help fight polio by collecting donations in the Mothers' March of Dimes.

GRAND FINALE. Girls Staters close their half of the assembly by linking arms and singing "Friends."

Humor and gravity of Girls State shared

In their annual assembly program, Girls and Boys Staters have a chance to share with other students of the school their unforgettable experiences of the previous June trip. Of course, the hilarity and humor of Girls and Boys States are brought out, but so is their purpose — learning how government in a democracy works.

Camp Robinson is a state within a state. It affords the opportunity of making new friends, hearing many excellent speakers, learning how a government is efficiently operated, and participating in political rallies.

In this year's assembly program, skits with a lot of laughs, a few sly cuts, and gay songs followed the traditional presentation of colors. After the laughter subsided, Greg Foster, elected associate justice of the Supreme Court, set forth the value of Americanism in an explanation of the American's Creed. In part, Greg said: "It should be the wish of every American citizen that in his dying days he may look back and see, NOT a land of broken and dishonored fragments of a once glorious Union, NOT a land rent with civil feuds or drenched in fraternal blood, but RATHER a nation of people working together to make a better world. It is for us to love and remain loyal to our country through whatever hardships we may have to endure."

"Where's Lee School?" is the question answered by the NHS project of Lee identification in ten-inch letters across the front of the building. The society also initiated a Lakeside chapter, provided a scholarship for a needy student, and sponsored a dance and a potluck supper for its members.

New members, initiated in the spring and fall, are judged on qualities of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Seniors need a 3.25 grade-point average, and juniors need a 3.5 average to become one of the "Nobility."

Clamoring crowds kindle mighty Trojans

Whistling, flag-waving referees; managers and disabled statisticians; bouncing, pomponed cheerleaders; and general crowd excitement add to the drama and glamor of football, for much of its appeal is in the audience's participation. Months of training make every Friday night a contest to remember. Offense or defense, the spectators are always yelling and cheering, supporting the team through victory or less; and the boys cheer too, in respect and admiration for the coach who shows his faith in them.

STATISTICIANS. Manager Richard Robbins, and disabled players, Bruce Smith and Bob Moeller, follow the Trojans to Hall to keep an accurate record of all the action.

OBVIOUS AFFECTION. As Coach Burton returns from making his pep assembly speech, members of "football row" show their evident respect and admiration for their coach.

Trojan spirit and Coach Ben Burton, after a successful 11-1 season at Hope, Arkansas, accepted the HSHS coaching job with one goal in mind — a winning football team. The Trojans, armed with desire and hustle, compiled their best record in years — 5 wins, 6 losses, and 1 tie.

Intent on starting the season with a bang, the Men of Troy were, perhaps, overanxious, as the Jacksonville Red Devils scrapped their way to a 7-7 tie. The Trojans launched their only sustained offensive drive in the first period as they went 49 yards in 14 plays and scored on a 14-yard pass from Brian to Elliott. Quast booted the extra point. Jacksonville scored its only touchdown and added the conversion when Bridwell, back to punt on fourth down, was tackled on the 4-yard line.

The following week, the Trojans gained their first victory in over a year, a 27-20 defeat of the Jonesboro Hurrican's. Displaying blistering offensive power and a rock-ribbed defense, the Trojans fought back from a 14-13 halftime deficit to completely dominate the second half of the game. After Jonesboro had a lead of 20-13 at the start of the third quarter, Elliott rammed in from the 8-yard line for his third TD. Quast's point after knotted the score at 20-20. In the final stanza, McFarland latched on to a Brian aerial and fell into the end zone for the winning touchdown.

Completely outmanned offensively and stymied by a tough Hall High defense, the Men of Troy were trampled 28-0 at Little Rock in their next game. Despite this defeat, the lads displayed a determination and hustle which foretold of better things ahead.

CHARGE! Byrum Hurst is finally tackled, but as his opponent soon learns, it is not easy to down a Trojan.

Dogged determination leads to victory

Battered and weakened from the Hall game of the week before, the Trojans suffered their second straight defeat, 17-0, at the claws of the Benton Panthers. The Men of Troy displayed a bulldog tenacity in their defense as they stopped Benton inside the Trojan 27-yard line seven times.

Crushing any hopes of a Hot Springs upset, the Little Rock Central Tigers converted a third-quarter fumble recovery into a touchdown to deal the Trojans a 21-13 defeat. After Central drew first blood in the second period, Elliott bucked in from the three, following his own 57-yard run, to tie the score. Again Central scored, but the Trojans came back after the half to counter with another TD as Young bulled his way in from the 9-yard line. This followed a pass from Brian to Greenberg. Wildly cheering Hot Springs spectators were stunned as a Tiger scooped up a Trojan fumble, early in the third stanza, and rambled 50 yards into the end zone to ice the game.

Traveling to Texarkana, the Trojans pinned a stunning 7-6 upset on the fourth-ranked Razorbacks. Lee halted the only serious Texarkana threat when he intercepted a Hog pass at the goal line just before the end of the first half. Hot Springs came storming back with four minutes left in the game. Brian rifled the ball to end McFarland, who galloped 25 yards before being brought down. Three plays later, Brian lofted an 18-yard throw-back pass to Elliott, who was alone in the end zone. Quast converted, and the Trojans led 7-6. The game ended as Lee nabbed his second stray Razorback pass of the evening.

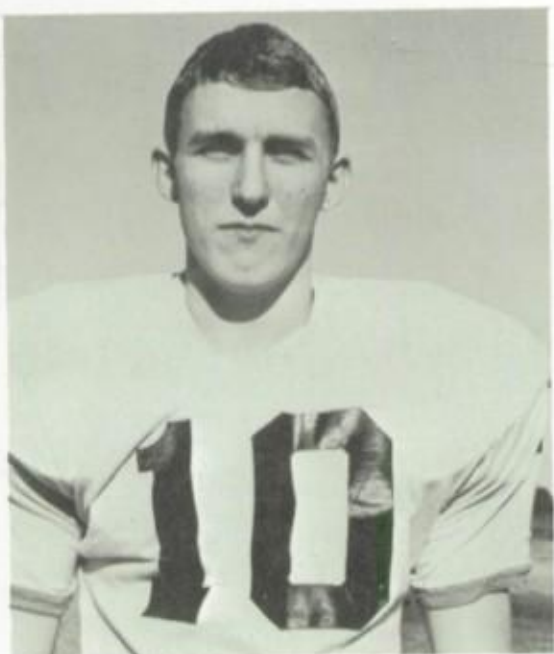

North Little Rock got their firstest with the mostest while Hot Springs was dropping its next league counter 17-0 to the always tough Wildcats. The normally stingy Trojan defense allowed the Cats three lengthy drives, which resulted in scores and eventually resulted in Hot Springs' doom.

Sidelined squads never sat down

The Trojans took the homecoming tilt from Smackover 14-6. After being stopped on the Smackover one-yard line in the first quarter, the Hot Springs crew retaliated with a flurry of passes by Brian. He hit Sammons with a 30-yard touchdown-bomb and the PAT made the score 7-6. Fikes struck paydirt midway through the third stanza on an eight-yard plunge up the middle. The steady toe of Quast provided the final point of the contest, as the rugged Hot Springs defense time and again squelched Buckaroo attempts to catch up.

Linebacker Billy Murray, provided the fireworks at Blytheville, with a 62-yard interception return which set up Hot Springs' only score and the only score of the ball game. After the interception, with fourth down and four minutes left to play in the first half, the deadly passing tandem of Brian to Elliott proved effective, as Brian gunned the ball to Elliott, who thundered in from the 12-yard stripe.

On a rain-soaked field the Trojans hosted the Fort Smith Grizzlies and dropped the game 33-21. The first score came when the Grizzlies converted a Hot Springs fumble into a TD. The Trojans took off on a sustained march which resulted in a 13-yard touchdown jaunt by Elliott. From the 28-yard marker, Brian squirmed over, under, around, and through several would-be tacklers, and dived into the end zone. Following a Grizzlie punt return for a TD and fumble on their part, Elliott took a short pass from Brian for Hot Springs' final score.

Bees gain experience for Varsity Squad

The Trojans broke a 22-year jinx and shellacked the El Dorado Wildcats 14-0. The first score did not come until five minutes were left in the third period, when Fikes muscled in from three yards out for the Trojans. A quarterback-sneak by Brian early in the fourth quarter accounted for the remaining Hot Springs' points. The boys showed their excitement after the game as they carried Head Coach Burton from the field on their shoulders.

Twenty seniors who were closing out their football careers as Trojans met the invading Pine Bluff Zebras November 20. Elliott took a handoff from Brian and scampered 36 yards for the score. The PAT was good and Hot Springs held a 7-0 lead. But, with two minutes left to play in the third quarter, the Zebras pounced on a Trojan fumble on the Pine Bluff 22-yard line, and it took them seven plays from scrimmage to knot the score. Although the Trojans fought valiantly, the game ended with Pine Bluff on top 14-7.

In order to overcome the distinction between "A" and "B" squads, Coach Burton emphasized their likeness: ALL are Trojans.

Spirit from the sidelines helps the players on the field. Under Coach Burton's rules, no one sits down during a game.

From early summer the football squads train for their rough and tumble sport, conditioning their bodies for the shock of contact. Through fall the air is thick with the crunch of impact and torn by sharp signal calls. Fans cheer. Coffee, popcorn, hot dogs, and half-time shows accentuate the gridiron thrills. The beauty of the sport is in the perfect execution of a precision play. Commanded by the quarterback, the team moves as a unit, showing the rewards of discipline.

FOOTBALL . . .

leads to BASKETBALL

With colder weather, sports and fans migrate indoors. Basketball is as different from football as extension from compression. Now the emphasis is on endurance. Accompanied by spectators' pulsing yells, the players race from goal to goal. Added visibility and closeness make the audience more a part of the game. Grace of form achieved by hours of practice is fully revealed, and personalities are injected into play. Unity is still the key, but individuality and initiative play large roles in deciding the victors.

Both sports have as their goal the coordination of mind and body, cooperation and initiative, and the perfection of physical attitudes. Each has rigid requirements to meet, and boys who try deserve the respect of all who observe their efforts.

Rugged offense and hustling defense

The basketball Trojans, in their first season of divisional Big 10 play, finished the campaign with a fine 19-8 won-lost record. They wound up second in the Western Division with an 8-2 ledger, trailing only State Champion Fort Smith.

The Men of Troy started things off with a bang as they thundered past the Pine Bluff Zebras 50-40. Brian and Elliott led the Hot Springs attack with 14 and 12 points respectively.

After their season-opening victory, the Trojans traveled to Jonesboro to play the rugged Hurricanes. In one of the poorest games of the year for either team, Jonesboro controlled the boards, and held on for a 49-45 victory over the scrapping Trojans.

Determined to make up for their disheartening defeat, the Men of Troy next journeyed to Benton, where they again could not find the basket but managed to overpower the inferior Panthers 56-47. Brian canned 17 points, followed by Sammons with 15.

Hot Springs followed up three nights later with an 85-38 shellacking of Arkadelphia. The aggressive Trojans came up with 19 fumble recoveries as all fourteen squadmen saw action. Brian, who again led all scorers with 11 points, was ably assisted by Harris and Muse, who netted 10 apiece.

MANAGERS. Pat Bischof and Carl Boenker prove to be invaluable "general flunkies" for the basketball team.

TRAPPED. Surrounded by the opposition, Muse breaks out for a field goal.

VANTAGE POINT. Sidelined Trojans watch the quintet in an afternoon game with Benton.

Using rugged rebounding strength and a hustling defense, the Trojans faced El Dorado in the first conference encounter of the year for both teams, and proceeded to walk away with a well-deserved 59-46 victory.

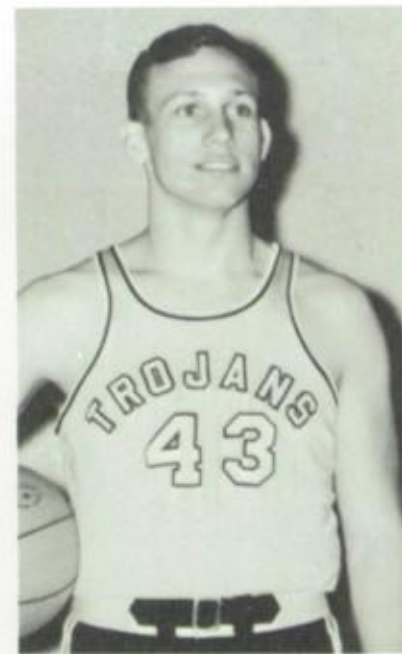

With four starters in double figures, the Men of Troy were rarely in danger, as they handed White Hall a 72-63 defeat. Brian hit 7 of 11 floor shots and finished the game with 23 points. Muse netted 17, and Sammons and Bridwell backed them up with 10 points a piece.

The Trojans rolled over Pine Bluff effortlessly, 70-60, in the first round of the Little Rock University Tourney. Bridwell played an outstanding floor game, but had to take a backseat to the scoring of Brian and Sammons. Brian ripped the nets for 21 points and Sammons chipped in with 16.

In the second round of the Tournament, Hot Springs found North Little Rock to be too much, as they fell before the Wildcats 56-51. Despite the loss, Brian played inspired ball as he garnered 24 points.

In the consolation final the following day, the Trojans manhandled Hall High 67-55, behind the gunning of Brian, (17), Muse, (15), and Bridwell (15), and aided by a hustling defensive attack.

The Trojans then beat Mabelvale 58-53 on the Lions home court, as they hauled down 34 rebounds, and shot a mediocre 40 percent from the floor. Brian took game scoring honors with 18 markers.

With the starters out for breaking training rules, Hot Springs could muster no offensive potency whatsoever, and the Fort Smith Grizzlies humbled them 44-27.

S-T-R-E-T-C-H- is the essence of basketball

The Trojans still could not find the winning touch as they dropped their second straight game to North Little Rock, 72-62. Despite the fine outside shooting of Larry Brian, with 23 points, and Randy Muse, with 19 points, the disciplined offense of the Wildcats proved to be too much.

Hungry for success, the Men of Troy next played host to Mablevale and rolled over them easily, despite the close score of 73-72. With Vernon Sammons paving the way with eight rebounds and 23 points, the Trojans completely dominated the smaller Lions.

Utilizing superior backboard strength and a strong scoring attack, the Trojan five outgunned the Texarkana Razorbacks, 59-54 in their next league tilt. Larry Brian set the Trojan offense pace with 17 markers.

Hot Springs next traveled to Springdale to meet the cellar-dwelling Bulldogs. Displaying an overpowering offensive attack, the Men of Troy took 59 shots from the floor and never allowed Springdale to get dangerously close, as they rolled up a 75-51 score. Larry Brian and Randy Muse shared the scoring honors with 17 points apiece.

After their impressive victory at Springdale, the Trojans came back to smother Hall High 66-57. All five starters were in double figures: Randy Muse (14), Sandy Elliott (13), Jim Harris (10), Benny Bridwell, (10), and Larry Brian (10). Bridwell also pulled in twelve rebounds for the winners.

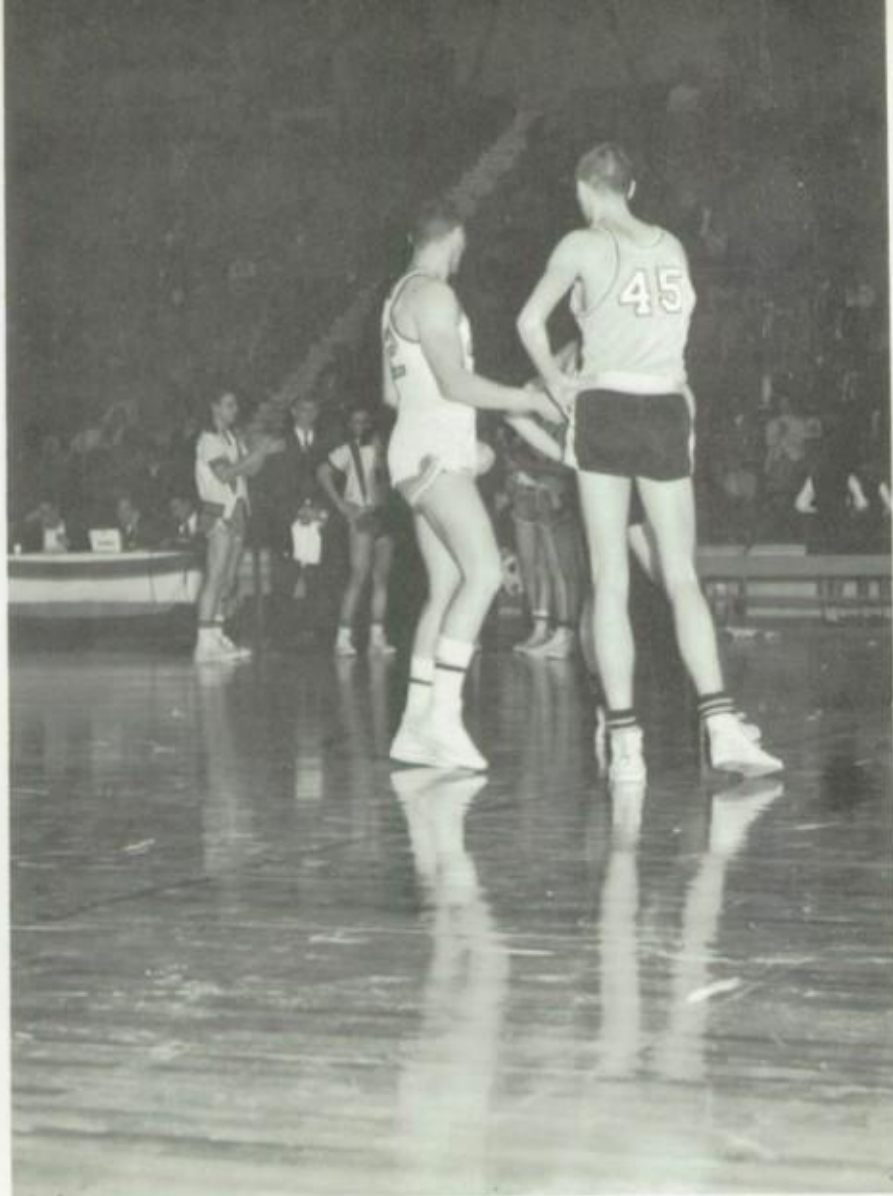

Faced with the prospect of gaining part or all of first place honors in the Western Division, the Trojans responded with an impressive 56-46 victory over Fayetteville. Vernon Sammons banged in 19 points to lead all scorers.

Trojans invade Barton Coliseum for tourney

Perhaps a bit over anxious, perhaps a bit complacent, the Men of Troy next journeyed to North Little Rock to match strength with the top team in the State. The Wildcats displayed their excellent coaching as they mauled the Trojans 87-62. Brian scored 11 points. Visibly affected by their crushing defeat by N.L.R., the Trojans took their feelings out on El Dorado in an 83-53 romp. Larry Brian notched 10 field goals and added five free throws for 25 points.

Plagued by cold shooting and ineffective rebounding, the Trojans fell at the hands of Little Rock Central, 80-70, in their next tussle. Larry Brian finally warmed up in the second half and finished the game with 21 points, but it was all to no avail.

Breaking a long standing jinx, Hot Springs beat Fort Smith 57-50, for the first time in many years. Playing their best game of the year, the Trojans fought back time after time to overcome Fort Smith leads. Brian rang up 25 points to pace the scoring attack.

Their morale boosted by the Fort Smith game, the Men of Troy continued their winning ways by downing Texarkana 82-64. Shooting a blistering 58 percent, Hot Springs led by wide margins throughout the entire ball game. Muse and Brian each netted 18 points.

LAY-UP. Sandy Elliot drives for two points at Barton Coliseum. Backboards and gym floor are portable, so there's no wall to hit if he misjudges.

The Trojans gained sweet revenge in the next encounter as they squeaked by Little Rock Central 61-60. After nearly blowing the game by throwing up a stall for the last five minutes, Hot Springs pulled it out of the fire in overtime as Randy Muse hit a 25-foot jumper.

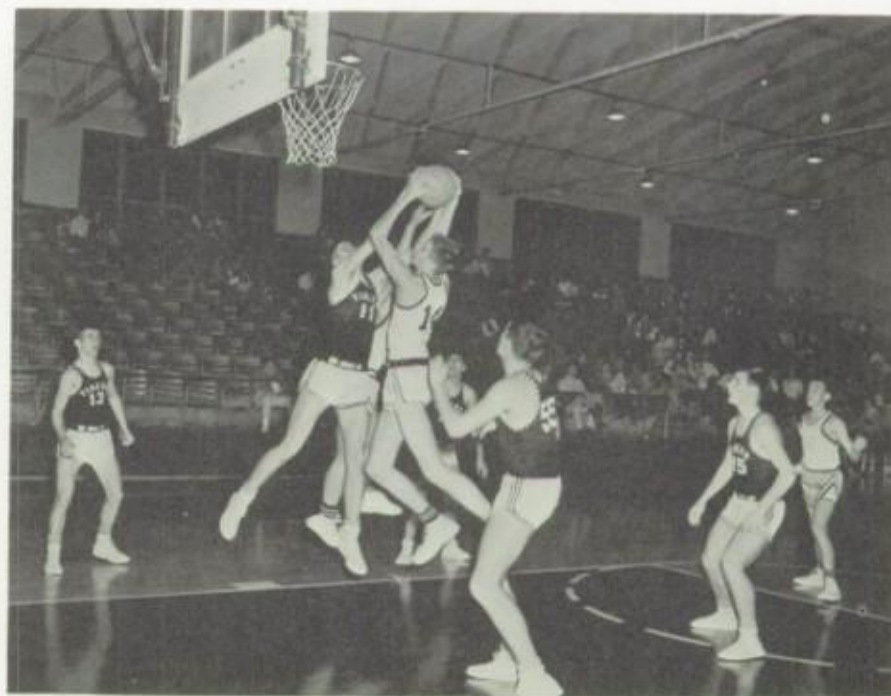

Led by the fantastic shooting of Benny Bridwell, who shot a blistering 71 percent, mostly on tip-ins and short jump shots, the Trojans breezed by Springdale 68-62.

Hot Springs encountered little difficulty in winning the next one, 64-58 from Hall High. Bridwell again played brilliantly, connecting on 9 of 12 floor shots and finishing with 19 points.

Fayetteville ended the Trojans' five-game winning streak 53-44. The Men of Troy experienced cold-shooting once again, and the Bulldogs would give them nothing.

After drawing a bye in the first round of the State Tournament, Hot Springs faced Jonesboro in the quarterfinals, but was downed by the Hurricanes 60-56.

CROSS COUNTRY. Basketball and track teams kept in preseason shape by running up Tower Mountain. After a short rest in the West Wind's house, fatigued sprinters start back down.

Swift-pacing Thinclads

The 1965 edition of the Trojan Track Team should prove to be the strongest group of performers ever assembled on the Spa cinders.

Probably the best bet to cop a first place in the state meet this year is broad-jumper Donnie Hall, who was consistently over 20 feet in his leaps all of last season. However, Hall has been hampered by illness during the early stages this year, and it remains doubtful whether he will be in good condition in time for the conference relays.

In the high jump, Randy Muse has a best of 6'4" and should provide strong competition for Terry Fancher of Fort Smith, the 1964 champion in this event.

INDOOR SPORTS. Cross-country boys lift weights when rain and cold force them indoors.

ce through endless hours of training

If sprinter-hurdler Steve House can ever measure up to his full potential and can overcome his tendency to choke up under pressure, he could become one of the top competitors in Arkansas in the 100-yard dash. A notably fast man out of the starting blocks, House has a best time of 10 seconds flat in the century, only .3 of a second off the state record; but his best performances have come in the 180-yard low hurdles, where he has been timed in 19.6. While he does not figure to challenge seriously Little Rock Central's Barry Snyder, one of the best hurdlers in the nation, House's speed makes him a distinct threat to finish second or third in the state meet.

HEAVE HO. Still more preparation for track, this time in calisthenics. Tim Bailey wears a hood to protect his face from the winds that sweep across the Southwest field.

GREEK REVIVAL. Sunlight streams over his arms as Len Randel takes the pose of a classic event — the discus.

The Spa thinclads return three members from the mile relay team which finished third in the state in '64. With Mike Lee, Tim Bailey, and Benny Bridwell returning, and with promising junior sprinter Dale Fitzhugh running the other leg, the Trojans promise to lose nothing off last year's performance. Bailey and Lee, those two workhorses this year, are undoubtedly the most valuable performers on the squad. Bailey not only broad jumps and runs legs on all three relay teams, but he has also come into his own in the hundred with a time of 10.1 seconds. Lee handles the baton on two relays and runs the quarter-mile in 50.9 seconds.

Benny Bridwell may prove to be the best middle-distance runner ever to come out of Hot Springs, if he can improve his 2:00 flat clocking of last year in the 880-yard run. He is just one of a strong contingent of half-milers throughout the state who threaten to crack the two-minute barrier.

In addition, if Mike Nooner, Benny Deaton, and Gary Smith can provide the extra lift expected from them, the Trojan thinlies have the potential to become one of the top teams in the state.

"I WON!" Bill Wright jumps for joy after he wins his match.

Tennis Team develops responsive agility

At 2:30 each afternoon, various paths make their way to the Jaycee tennis court. After changing into tennis shorts and shoes, the boys begin their drills. They work at perfecting their serves, backhand, forehand, volley, and most of all their coordination. Although no matches have yet been played, Coach Jenkins helps the boys improve their grip, stance, and other techniques.

RAPID RETURN. John Bonner leaps to swing and delivers a near-perfect return.

TENNIS TEAM: John Bonner, Tom Albaugh, Bill Wright, Billy Hurd, Tom Bailey, and Teddy Gries.

Accomplished Golf Team displays coordination

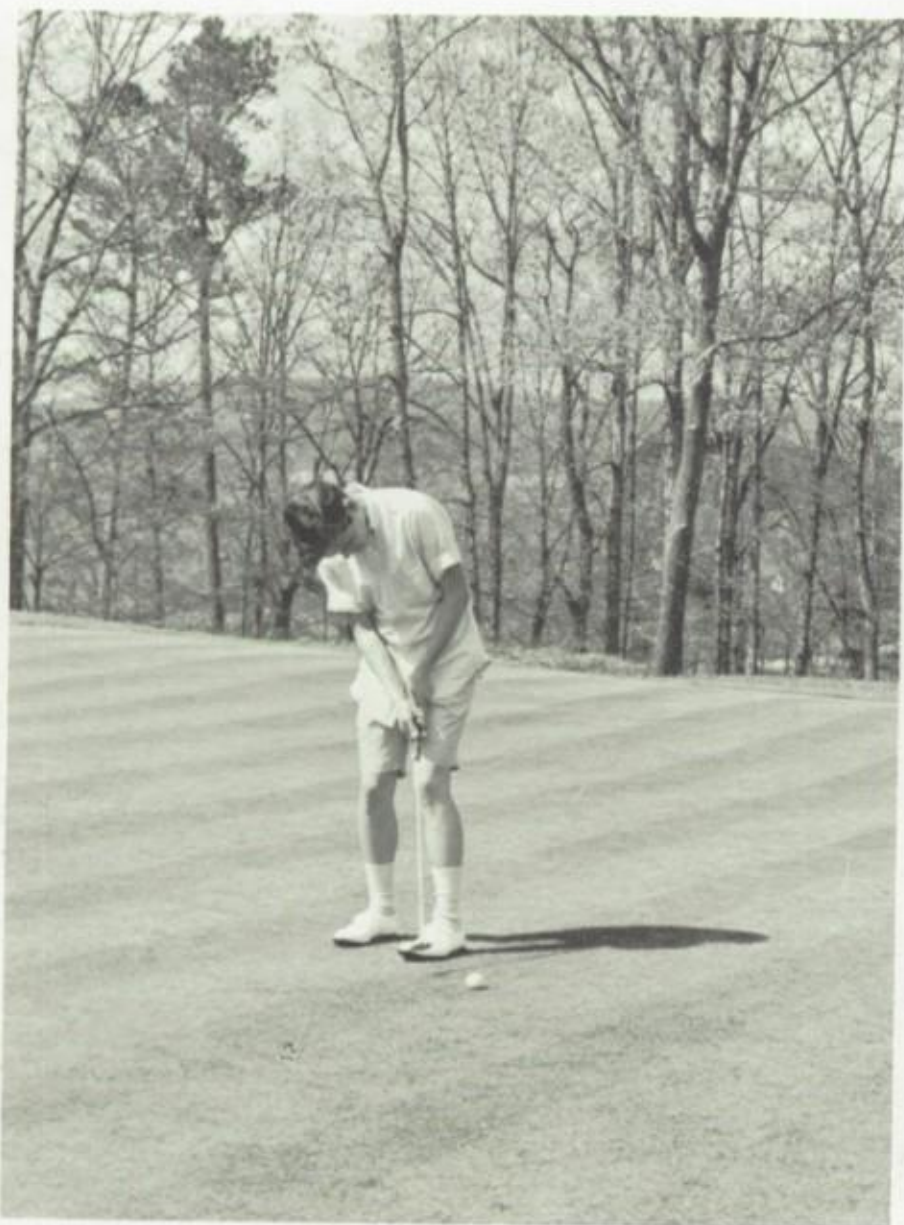

With three lettermen returning from last year — Bob Duncan, Bobby Goslee, and Lucky Tondeau — the Hot Springs High School golf team had high hopes for the coming season, but three losses in their first four matches served to dim their chances. However they turned in a fine performance in a 327-all tie with Fordyce over the Hot Springs Country Club course through eighteen holes of match play. For the Trojans, Duncan was medalist with a pair of 79's, an 81, and an 88.

Probably the toughest test of the year, other than the state meet, came in a four-way encounter with Fayetteville, Springdale, and Fort Smith, at Fort Smith. The Trojan golfers covered the links with some fine scores, but were able to muster only a third place finish against some of the toughest competition in Arkansas.

The other two rounds were dropped to the Hall High School golf team.

SAND TRAP. Bob Duncan finds that the golf course is not always grassy.

AROUND WE GO. The physical education classes entertain the PTA with a sample of the new square-dancing course.

Throughout Lee School, moans and shrieks of pain are heard each day. Tracing the source of such expressed misery, one can find groups of girls in the gym reaching for toes that are too far from their grasp for comfort. While their studies develop the mind, physical education strengthens the body and gives the girls a well-rounded day of activities.

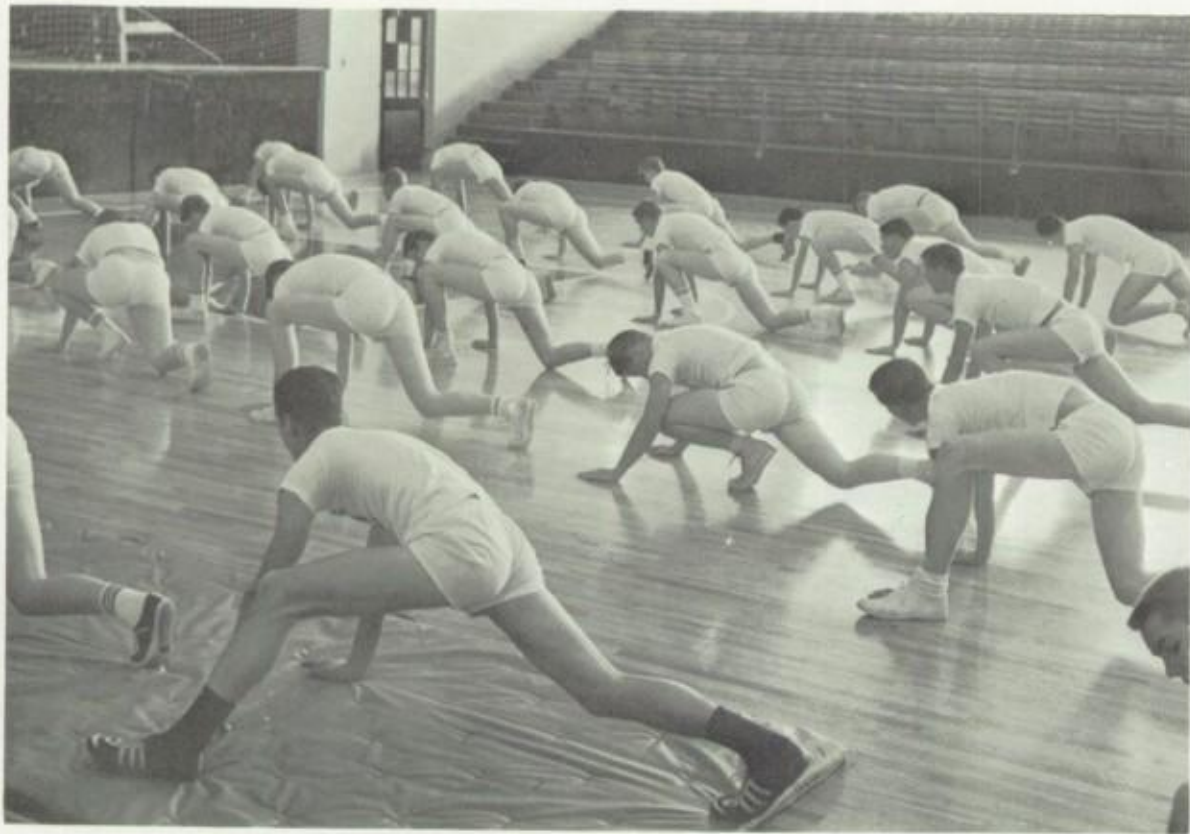

Basketball, baseball, bowling, kickball, tennis, track, volleyball, and square dancing provided variety during the year. Each sport was studied and the rules understood before actual playing began.

Building body muscles is the goal of boys' physical education. Every period, boys run laps and windsprints in the field house or around the school.

Although the boys sweat from working with weights, they also have times of enjoyment. This year is a first for the square-dancing program. Letting themselves go, the boys whoop it up as they dosey-doe about the girls' gym. Signs of their heritage as Sons of Troy burst through as the boys struggle with one another in wrestling matches. Basketball and tag football provide drills for coordinating muscles and movements.

Trojans spurred by Cheerleaders' spirit

After three months of hot summer practice and an exhausting week at Cheerleading Camp, the Trojan cheerleaders were at last ready to begin the year. Yelling and jumping, these girls infected the entire school with their pep.

Each year the cheerleaders elect — by vote among themselves — a boy and a girl whom they have seen being the "peppiest." These two are crowned King and Queen Pep during the last pep assembly.

FINISHED PRODUCT. After long hours of practice, the T-Steppers perform for the student body in pep assembly. These performances are a highlight to which the students look forward.

Prancing T-Steppers form colorful lines

As a soft pat-pat-pat begins to sound throughout the field house in the middle of a pep assembly, a swish-swish-swish accompanies it, and a gray dust from the swaying pompons begins to fill the gym. Already HSHS students know they are about to see a good performance, for they all take pride in their T-Steppers.

T-Steppers practice hard in the summer, both during the day and at night, getting ready for the performances. Perfection is strived for, although not always obtained. In their gold uniforms, the T-Steppers make a colorful line as they march onto the football field or the field house floor. Occasionally a tassel is lost off a stomping boot, but its professional recovery calmly rights what could have been a disaster to some T-Stepper.

PRACTICE, PRACTICE, PRACTICE. Girls often appear in curler caps, face creams, and cut-offs for 6:00 A.M. practices.

Noisy Sophs make up Pep Squad

Consisting mostly of Sophs, the Pep Squad has worked hard this year. Being noisy is not all peppers do. While the band or pep band plays, the girls perform hand motions to the pulsing beat of the music. When a lull in the game comes along, they do ripples with their black and gold pompons.

Traveling to most out-of-town games, the Pep Squad makes a noisy but disciplined group. At odd hours in almost any day, the squad captains' "LEFT, RIGHT, LEFT, RIGHT, PIVOT" can be heard from the steps of senior high or at Rix Field.

TREMENDOUS "T". The Pep Squad adds color to ball games with black and gold rippling pompons.

PHYSICS FOLLIES. Senior boys have learned to enjoy films shown in Mr. Beam's physics class.

Boys will be boys

In almost any place, at almost any time HSHS boys are found doing odd things. It may be in a parade that one sees the high-stepping Senior Stud Stompers, or at a pep rally in the street that boys are bunched together trying to see who can make the most noise. At football games these boys can be easily heard and spotted sitting with the gang and cheering the team on. Before a physics or calculus exam, they can always be found in groups poring over some problem they cannot quite comprehend. In pep assemblies, the senior boys sit in "their" section. The basketball and football players sit on the first two rows; behind them the rest of the just-as-outstanding senior boys royally sit.

Although HSHS boys seem to be all fun, they never fail to come through when they are really needed. Facing a tough job, the boys' carefree laughter turns to serious persistence until the task is completed. This is the spirit that makes these boys truly Trojan.

At any rate, boys will be boys. (And how the girls like it!)

BOYS' PEP SQUAD. Senior boys delight in imitating the Pep Squad. Or is the Pep Squad imitating the boys?

CAR WASH. Kurt Boender, Phil Chatelain, and Bill Barnes turn the Key Club car wash into a game rather than drudgery.

SWEET DREAMS. Girls usually hug a teddy bear, but Tim Bailey has grown so fond of football that he even embraces one as he sleeps.

Attired in smart suits, the 1964 Homecoming Royalty added a touch of sophistication to the surging throngs at the hard-hitting football game. Occupying ringside seats at the football stadium, the queens and their maids joined in the frenzied cheering that spurred the grid-iron squad to victory.

In the afternoon assembly, hoping for a better glimpse of the girls who are so dear to them, the students rose and applauded wildly as their queens ascended the thrones to receive their crowns. After the coronations, the royalty was entertained by the T-Steppers.

Later in the afternoon, the Homecoming parade made its way through downtown Hot Springs. Atop convertibles the queens and their courts were accompanied by the Cheerleaders, T-Steppers, the Pep Squad, and the Trojan Band.

After the evening pageantry and a victorious Homecoming game, a dance was held in honor of the royalty. The queens and maids readily agreed that the day had been a perfect one that they would never forget.

HELPING HAND.

Even though she is "Queen for a Day," Suzanne helps T-Stepper Carol Moenster with last-minute preparations for the assembly.

There's more to it than just a crown and flowers. Homecoming involves votes, decorations, coronation, entertainment. And behind the scenes are helpful gestures, smiles and tears, and ill-concealed jealousy at watching someone else kiss your girl. But that's the price of going with everybody's queen.

DESOLATION. After the festivity, excitement, and gaiety of the assembly, nothing remains but a few lost jackets, a purse or two, and one poor T-Stepper's pompon. Wonder how many demerits she'll get for this?

Postgame Dancing is backbreaking but fun

DIFFERENT VIEW. Dances look much different when viewed from the position of the combo and from that of the dancers.

DETERMINED ADVERTISERS. Someone once said, "Where there's a will, there's a way." Bobby Gaddis, Harry Childs, and Bill Ford seem resolved to prove the theory.

With the resilience inbred in all young people, winning or losing their event, HSHS students enjoy an aftergame dance.

Dancing is only one of the many outlets for students' built-up tension and concentration on schoolwork. This year there have been more dances than at any other time in HSHS history. Grown-ups may look upon young peoples' dancing with disgust, but the dancers wholeheartedly stomp and wriggle with enjoyment. Ignoring the fact that the morning after brings aches and sore back and leg muscles, the adults of tomorrow literally let down their hair and "Pony," "Swim," "Watusi," and "Monkey" at dances sponsored by various school clubs.

DANCE, DANCE, DANCE. After the ball games everyone shows for the dance at Lee Gym.

VARIED MOODS. An assortment of moods, music, dances, and people is sure to be found at all postgame dances.

Special Days, Weeks

Getting the "upper hand" (and also the brunt of the drudgery in playing the boys' part of opening doors, carrying books, asking for dates, and paying for the treat), the girls always enjoy TWIRP Week. The boys enjoy it, too, but never seem to get used to this week of "letting the girls do it."

In order to give the girls a full week of dating, special things were scheduled, such as a bonfire, pep rally, and two dances.

Each boy's TWIRP card had to be visible at all times, and violation of this rule meant Kangaroo Court.

The boys had to accept all dates if they did not already have one for the night, and again their penalty for failure to comply was Kangaroo Court.

Scattered throughout the usual school year are special days and weeks. Valentine Day easily takes the prize for being "favorite" day. On this day, Key Club members act as postmen and distribute valentines in the different homerooms.

Dress-up Day has been more than once this year, and it spices the everyday school pace considerably. Other days call for more than just school clothes, such as St. Patrick's Day, Homecoming, and Color Day.

OUCH!!! St. Pat's Day is Becky Dean's favorite occasion, but Becky Banks has forgotten to wear green for the last time.

SHARP-LOOKING GENTS. HSHS males, slightly uncomfortable in their different attire, arrive early for Dress-up Day.

SWEETS FOR THE SWEET. Betsy Miller's Cupid is a little shy, but she has a sneaky suspicion of what he has in mind.

BURLAP-CLAD GENTLEMAN. Mike Wallman looks askance at Bill Kaley, who wears a burlap suit on Dress-up Day.

Elegance reigns

Tense and nervous, yet thrilled and happy, the 1965 Basketball Homecoming Royalty made hurried last-minute adjustments before their presentation. Fellow students as well as proud parents watched eagerly as the excited queens and maids walked through the traditional homecoming arches.

Applause grew louder with each presentation until finally Queen Barbara was honored with a standing ovation. After each kiss, ooh's marked the crowning of Queens Barbara and Sheila by the presidents of the Senior Class and the Student Council.

Saluting the royal court, the T-Steppers performed during the assembly and game. The proud royalty ended their reign by presiding over the homecoming dance, which was sponsored by the French Club.

NEW TROPHY. Jim Harris presents Mike Mackey with the third-place trophy won at the Little Rock University Tournament.

with 1965 Basketball Homecoming Royalty

A ROYAL HAND. The basketball royalty is never too dignified to cheer for the Trojans.

GRAND FINALE. Members of the royalty are making their final appearance of the exciting day. They have just arrived at the game to cheer the Trojans on to victory.

FIGURED HOSIERY. Keeping in fashion, HSHS girls have gone all out for figured hose of all colors.

DRY-LAND SURFER. Randy Goodrum balances himself on a sidewalk surfboard, the best substitute for ocean waves.

BLAZER BUDDIES. A bit of collegiate sophistication can be detected in the smart, neat blazers being worn by both of the sexes.

All-American look with Modern England seems to hold the admiration of Hot Springs young folks. Little heels, straight hair, figured and textured hose, and the English Mersey Beat were "in" this year. At the same time, the All-American look was found in blazers on both girls and boys.

Not only surfers wore windbreakers this year; it was practically everyone across the nation, including HSHSers.

Fads do not mean only clothes. Many cars were seen with simulated tiger tails emerging from their gas tanks. Much was heard this year of James Bond, Agent 007.

As tradition went, first-year football lettermen received haircuts which left a huge T on the crown of their heads. Special barbers for these trimmings were second- and third-year lettermen. As always, this year's Senior Class marked its status with senior rings, the symbol of years of hard work and hope for the future.

MADRAS PARKAS. Two fads combined are madras and parkas. Students really go for both, which are worn year-round.

British accent displayed by students

FADDISH FEET. Weejuns, the latest craze in Memphis, have taken over at HSHS. They are seen on both boys and girls; and although the boys usually wear pastel socks with them, the girls usually dismiss the socks for hose.

BOOK WORMS. Really catching on this year are books by Ian Fleming about the hero of both males and females — James Bond.

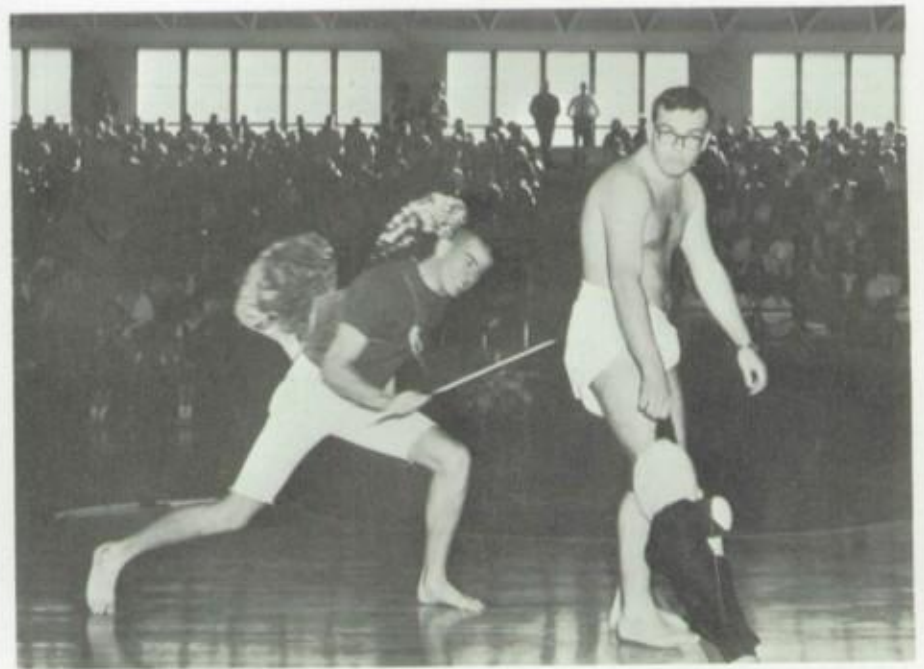

KING AND QUEEN OF HEARTS. Suzanne Pender and Jim Nobles are sweethearts of the student body.

King and Queen who captured HSHS hearts

Celebrating Valentine's Day, HSHS students elect a favorite boy and girl and crown them King and Queen of Hearts. Wearing long white formals, the queen and her maids are escorted down the field house court and take their places on the sweetheart set to preside over an assembly full of applause and kisses.

Along with all the cupids, cards, and candy of the Valentine Day celebrations, the school is presented these very special people who have won the hearts of the entire student body.

CUPID'S CAPERS. Cupid Richard Robbins stabs School Spirit Mike Warr to help him win favor of Miss Victory.

ROYAL COURT. King Jim and Queen Sue are attended by their royal court — Jim Burton and Barbara Reynolds, Billy Murray and Paula Jones, and Isabel Burton and Mike Lee.

GERMANIC TRIBE. Musicians Melvin Fogle, Clark Crays, James Hendren, Johns Crenshaw, and Cecil Hays entertain patrons of the Band Variety Show.

Band Variety Show—array of young talent

Curtains rose and lights dimmed as the twentieth annual Band Variety Show began. Audiences were held spellbound as the Titan, Viking, Spartan, and Trojan bands played again for loyal fans. Included besides the many marches were solos, piano arrangements, and a teenage group playing all the latest favorites. The highlight of the program was the rousing 1812 Overture, played by the Trojan Concert Band. As the end neared, special lighting effects were incorporated to enhance the final moments.

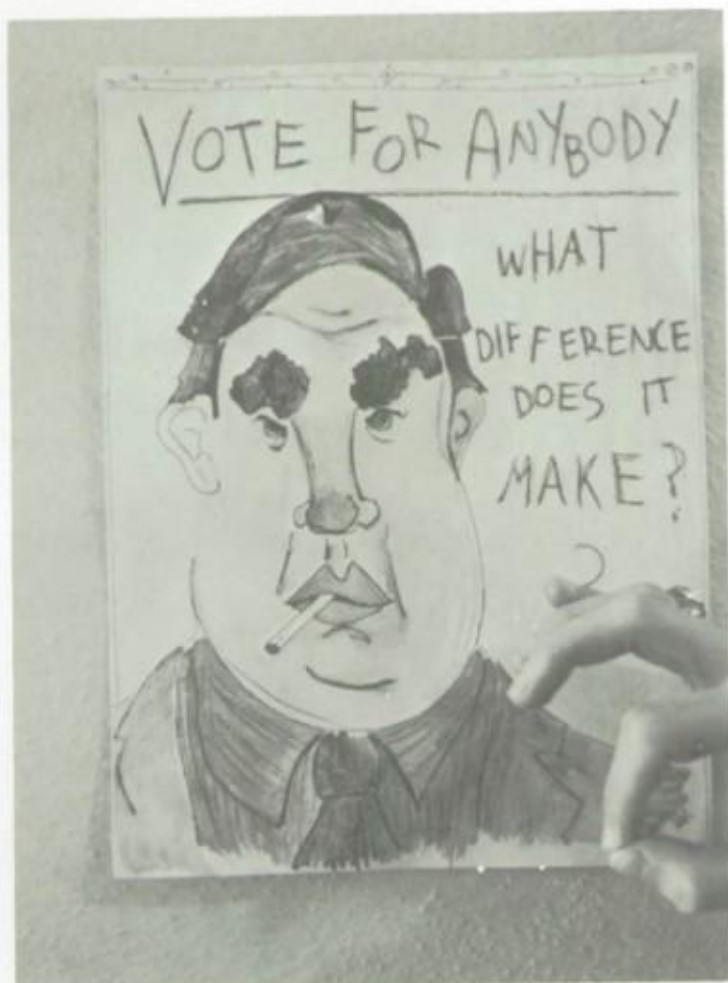

BRENDA LEE? No, it's little Paula Stuart, accompanied by Ray Ragland, belting out a song like a tuned-in hi-fi.

PRIMA BALLERINA. Marilyn Breckenridge is featured as she dances to "Exodus."

OLDIE BUT GOODIE. Judi Parker, almost a regular at HSHS talent exhibitions, always delights her audience.

RIGHT MENTAL ATTITUDE. Some student who initialed his sketch DWR placed this poster in the hall. It may seem "rash"; but it's an inescapable truth because all the candidates are good.

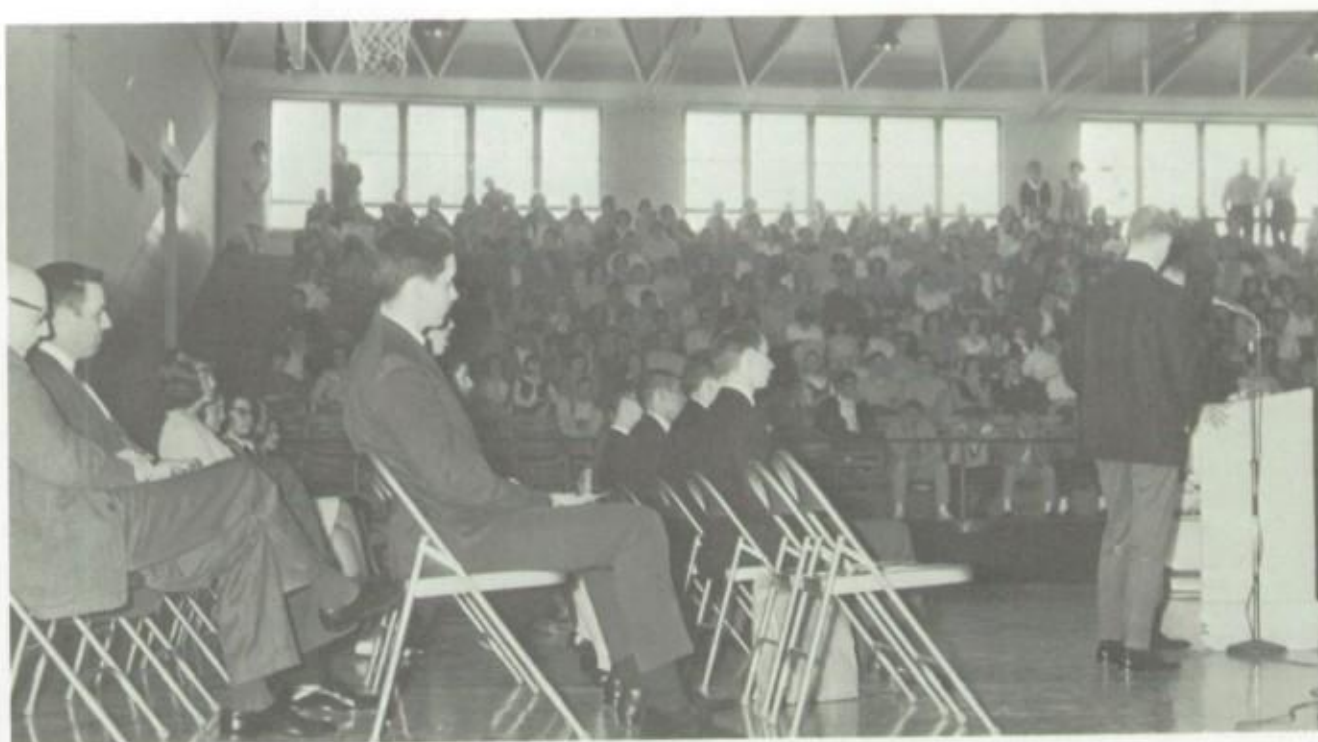

GET THE POINT? Candidates go all out to brainwash students into voting for them.

Poster-covered walls announce SC Election

Looking like a paper jungle, the halls of Hot Springs High School are hardly recognizable to students during the heated campaigns for student council offices. Besides the usual posters which clutter the walls, unusual gadgets and attention getters find their ways into people's books and pockets. Climaxing the week of cam-paingning, an assembly gives the student body a chance to hear and see the candidates.

Then the day of election finds the candidates sleepless and everyone excited; an air of suspense pervades the whole day until at last the new student council officers are announced.

DECISIVE SPEECHES. Candidates and their campaign managers face the student body to solicit votes.

1965-66 OFFICERS. Becky Brown, secretary; Mark Anthony, vice-president; Dave Smith, president; and Sharon Schrivanos, treasurer.

DISTINCTIVELY DIFFERENT. Ordinary, commonplace posters are rarely seen in HSHS halls. Campaign devices — whether they are large or small, bright or drab, on the wall or suspended in the air — are all different.

TRIUMPHANT TROUPE. The cast of Charley's Aunt look well pleased with themselves after a night's run.

Thespians produce comedy-CHARLEY'S AUNT

TEA TIME. Butler Brassett serves tea to Charley's "aunt" and Donna Lucia, whom he (she) is impersonating.

A young man finds himself dressed as a woman and portraying the aunt of one of his friends as two girls visit him in his house. In the 1800's it was doubly necessary to have proper chaperonage, and Charley's Aunt shows the farce of this rule. At the end of the play, everyone except Mr. Spettigue has a lover or a spouse.

WACKY WEDDING. Preacher Haggler marries Barbara and John, the witchboy, in the very unorthodox setting of the local general store.

Troupe 78 presents THE DARK OF THE MOON

Based on the ballad of "Barbara Allen," the Dark of the Moon was a dramatically produced fantasy. A witch-boy falls in love with Barbara Allen and is changed to a human on the condition that Barbara must be faithful for a year. The plot thickens intriguingly until the last day of the year. After being unfaithful to John, Barbara dies. John is changed back into a witch, forgets his beloved Barbara Allen, and resumes his former way of life.

"REPENT, SINNER!" urges Preacher Haggler as revival time comes to Chunky Gal Mountain.

TRANSFERRED TALENT. Janelle Avery, a new student, wins unanimous approval in the talent show.

SLAVE SALE. Big Boy Murphy auctioneers at a lunch-time assembly. Mrs. Crane fears she won't be bought — or will.

Assemblies both educate and entertain

Assemblies at HSHS continued to amuse and educate. As though the lineup of talent was inexhaustible, students and teachers paraded their talents for the school's approval and amusement. Entertainment was a keynote, which ranged from a womanless wedding to another of the famed Neil Douglas filmed tours. With fashion shows, talent shows and distinguished speeches by leaders of the community, students were in no position to complain about a lack of variety. Almost as many assemblies were held in the field house as in the auditorium.

HOOTENANNY. The Talismen entertain with a round of folk songs.

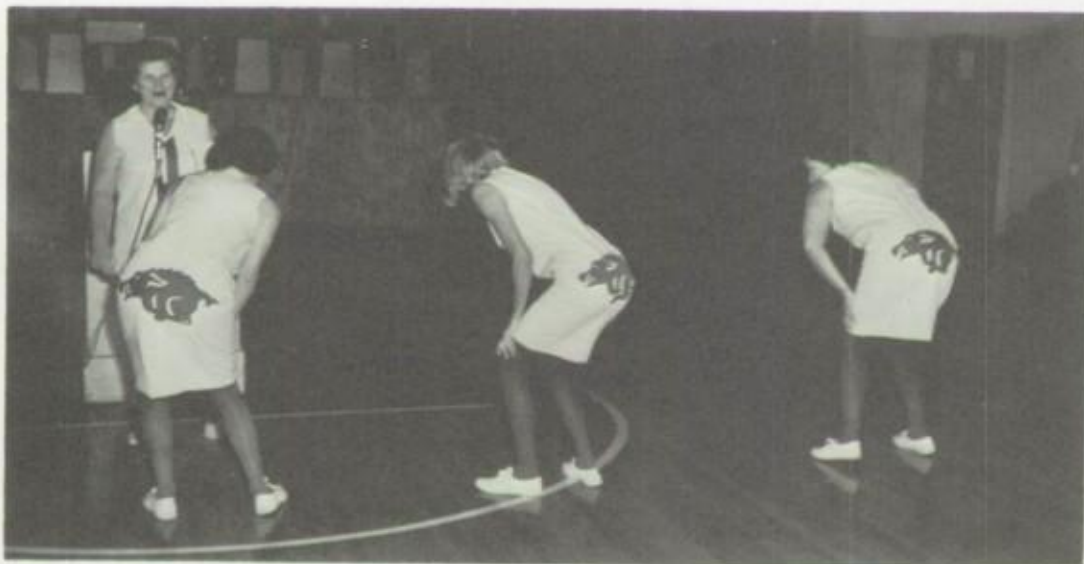

SCIENTIFIC SACRIFICE. Thousands of volts flow through her, but only her hairdo knows for sure.

LET'S TWIST! Mr. Duncan dances with the bride, Mr. Heusel.

RAGGEDY ANN AND ANDY. Raggedy Ann, Mrs. Campbell, sings "My Funny Valentine" to Raggedy Andy, Mrs. Strong.

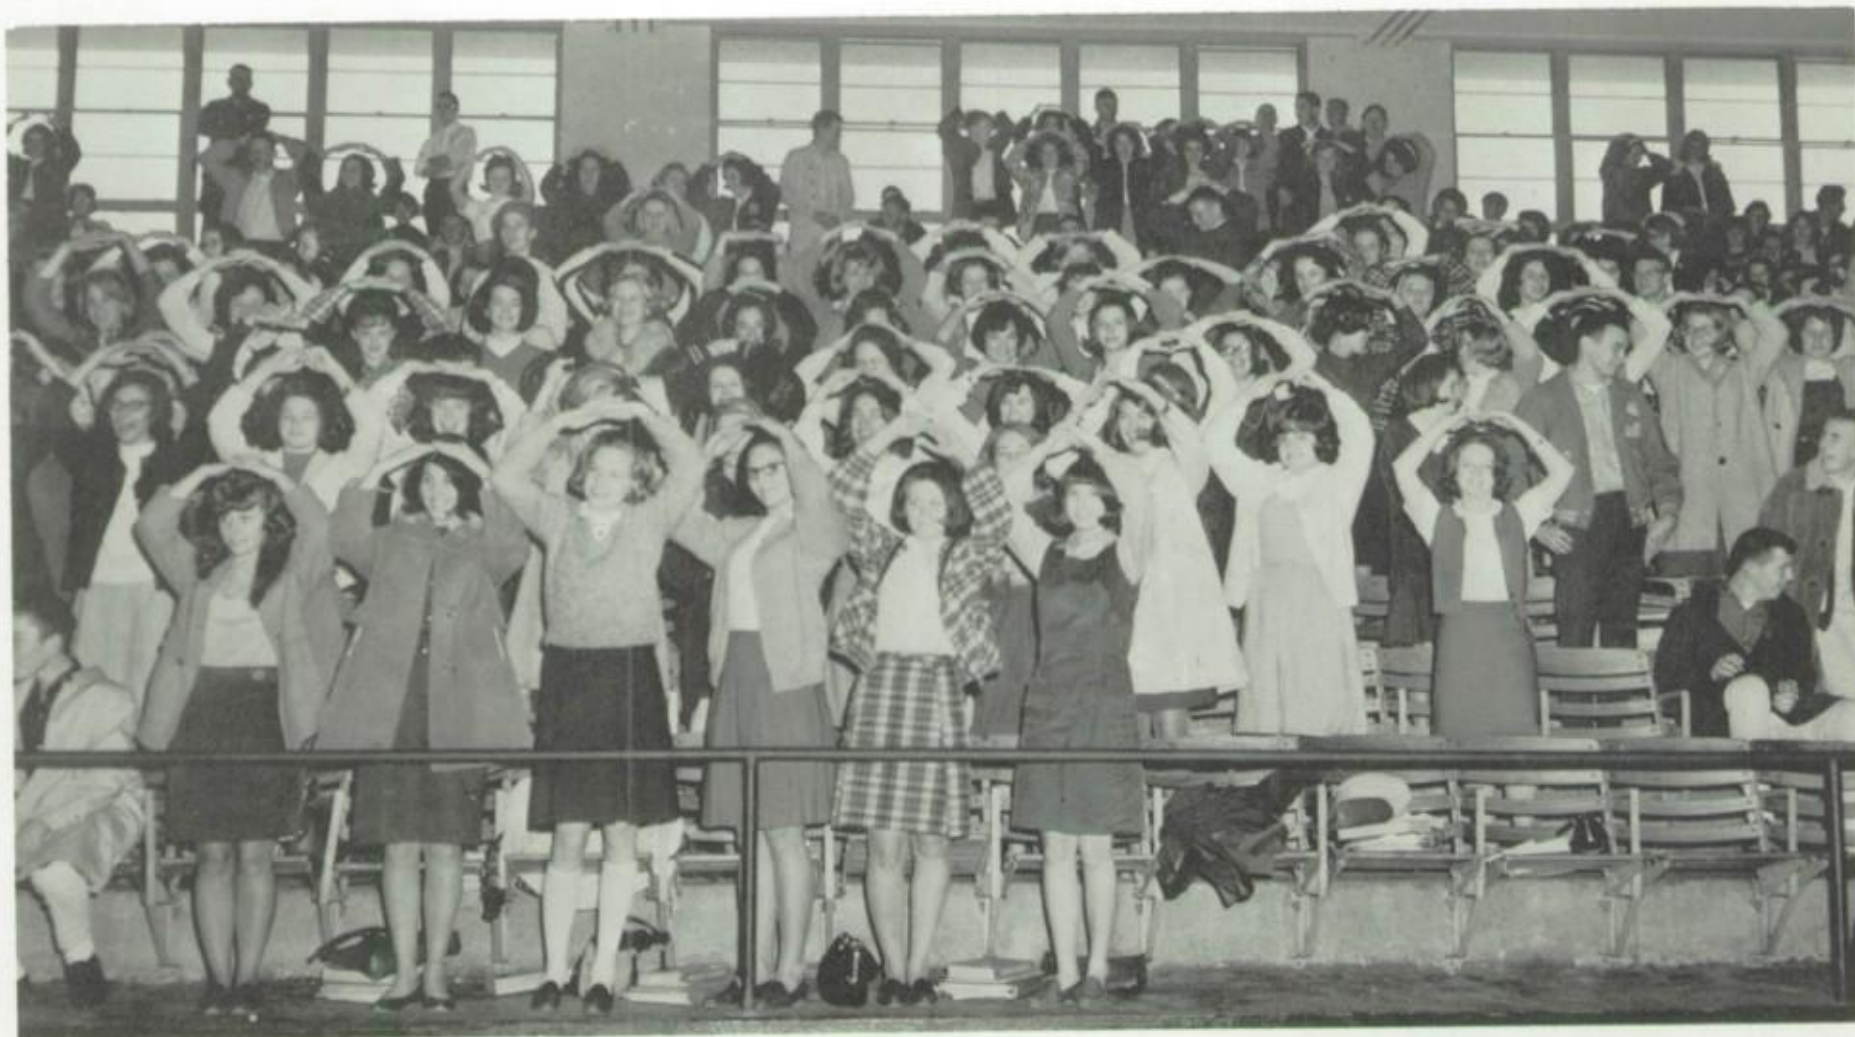

BIG RED. Going along with the Razorback No. 1 craze, Mrs. Moenster, Mrs. Mascho, and Mrs. Strong, accompanied by Mrs. Campbell, dance to "Big Red."

BIG ATTRACTION. Mr. Schooley and Mrs. Luebben display their talent to the student body.

CARD GIRL. Miss Sisk goes over with a bang in the teacher assembly.

Students thrive on

For every hour of classwork, there are a thousand little memories. Friendly, funny, sweet, or sad, these occurrences add spice to life both in and out of class. Perhaps a whispered remark or a ridiculous contrast throws the class into a state of confused hilarity. At a time when nothing seems okay, a look, a smile, a touch, or a word can make it seem all right. Sudden contrast or surprise brings humor at every turn, from the bent sign where the driver's ed car parks, to the office door, gaily wrapped as a holiday gift, its tag proclaiming, SENIOR STUD STEPPERS. SSS rides (walks) again. Donning zany costumes, they added a humorous note to pre-game parades.

DELAYED REACTION. Martha Hankins prepares for Spring Concert with a long draught on the ReaLemon. That's taking the bitter with the sweet.

BANISTER VIRTUOSOS. Ragsdale and Randy rehearse for their Band Variety Show act. They wrote it themselves. The practice technique shown here is a genuine method.

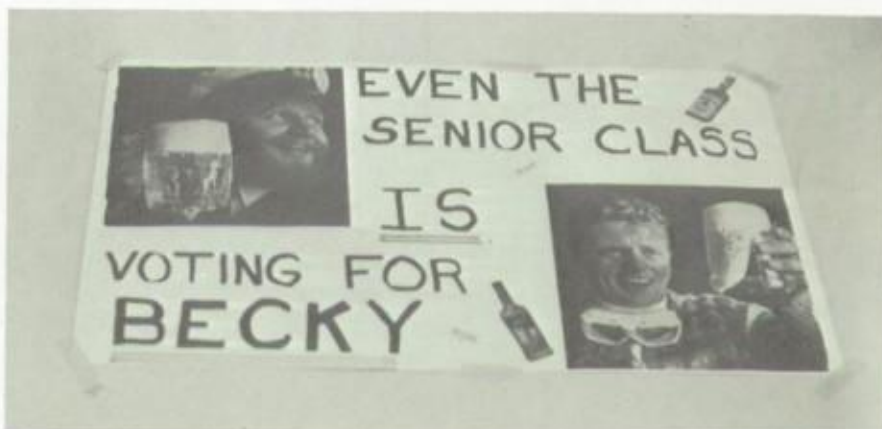

friends and fun

"Do not open until Christmas."

Traditions and innovations keep students bogged down with extracurricular escapades, but even the heartiest complainer is more in favor of curtailed homework. Minutes stolen from a class and shared with friends take on a special glow. Holidays, though added on at the end of the term, give students a feeling of something for nothing. Sweet somethings, sweet nothings, these are the things that must be remembered — the fun that comes from having friends you love.

PARTY PREPARATIONS. Mike and Richard make decorations for a memorable Key Club New Year's Eve Dance.

COINCIDENCE? Campaign poster and sign in chorus room share a common thought.

OPTICAL ILLUSION. Karo and Mike got their heads together to discuss our OGB problem.

BULL SESSION. The front lawn provides an excellent place for the boys to congregate at lunch and "shoot the bull."

Friends make high school years golden

Always there are friends — friends to laugh with, cry with, and just be happy or sad with; new ones, old ones; friends of all dispositions, shapes and heights. Some last, some don't, but all are friends.

Perfect opportunities to make friends from all over the state are the Chorus Festival and the Band Festival, which are held in Hot Springs. All through life, these students meet one another in unexpected places at unexpected times.

DO-NUTS AND MILK. The PTA treated several homerooms to a party the last day before Christmas holidays.

PTA PARTY. Mrs. Crane and students enjoy the party given to them and a few other homerooms for having 100 percent PTA membership.

CHORUS FESTIVAL. Members of the Trojan Chorus give up their holiday time to assist during the festival.

FOOTBALL BANQUET. Fathers and sons attend the annual football banquet held at the Round Table's Trojan Hall. The guest speaker is an old coaching friend of Coach Burton's from Texas, who drove to Hot Springs for the banquet.

Father-Son Banquet closes football season

To give the fathers of football players a chance to gather and leisurely discuss important games and plays of the season, the Booster Club sponsored a banquet. All football players and dads were invited to the Round Table shortly after the season ended.

Melodious strains from the Stardusters furnished entertainment, while the 1964 Football Royalty furnished regal service.

DELICIOUS FEAST. Trojans and their dads, some of whom are former Trojans themselves, enjoy a delicious meal at the banquet. These athletes prove the theory that "You never outgrow your need for milk."

Lunch—food, frolic, and friends

LOITERING LUNCHERS. While digesting their lunches, a group of boys spend a little time joking and discussing the morning's events.

MRS. D. H. LEWIS, B.S.
Supervisor of Cafeterias

NOONDAY PICNIC. Warm spring weather provides an excellent invitation for senior girls to eat their lunch outdoors.

GRAVY TRAIN. John Schmidt enjoys the well-balanced meals served in the school cafeteria.

FAITHFUL FATHERS. Trojan football's greatest boosters gather once a year in mass support for their sons.

Special nights awaken parental sentiments

One football game of the season is dedicated to the fathers of the football players. The Key Club sees to it that for each football dad there is a chair which has his son's name and number on its back.

Parents' Night gives the parents of the students a chance to walk the same paths that their cherubs trudge daily. After their tiring night at school, the parents seem to more readily sympathize with their children's worn-out spirits.

GUIDED TOUR. Lezah Hurst explains part of the speech department to visiting parents.

CLASS CUTTERS. Sparse attendance of parents in mass class is in direct contrast to that of students, who overflow it. Attitude is the same, though. Those in the back converse.

Christmas and Thanksgiving characterized

FIRST PLACE. Mr. Schooley's homeroom won with their Horn of Plenty again. Members who worked on the basket are Nadra Allen, J. O. Kemp, Donnie Hall, Gaye Dishroon, and Sally Parker.

SECOND PLACE. Diana Connelly, Mike Baldwin, Glen Newkirk, Richard Robbins, Sue Miller, and Carol Miller worked to capture second place for Mrs. Browne with their replica of the school.

TROJAN HORSE. Tim Bailey, Carol Heine-mann, Anna Hassin, Mike Warr, Charles Pranter, Mike Lee, Jim Burton, and Stevie Spargo — members of Mrs. Crane's first period — entered a Trojan horse, which received a third place.

y spirit of giving

Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons last for more than one day at Hot Springs High. For Thanksgiving, serious thought is given to needy families as preparations begin and food to fill gift baskets is selected to assure nutritional balance. Gratitude is often felt and seen as the food is delivered to these families. Giving provides a reward within itself.

At Christmas time, students put their heads together and by working with one another, come up with ingenious ideas for decorating their homeroom doors. There are two categories in which the doors are placed for judging: novelty, for the humorous or holiday doors, and religious, for the more serious doors.

TONY TIGER. Mr. Haynie admires his door, which was cleverly decorated by the Key Club.

OVERFLOWING FLASK. Lynda Yeldell, David Sigmon, Mary Robinson, Maureen Hoffman, and Carolee Bonnette decorate Mr. Duncan's door, which won first place in the humorous division.

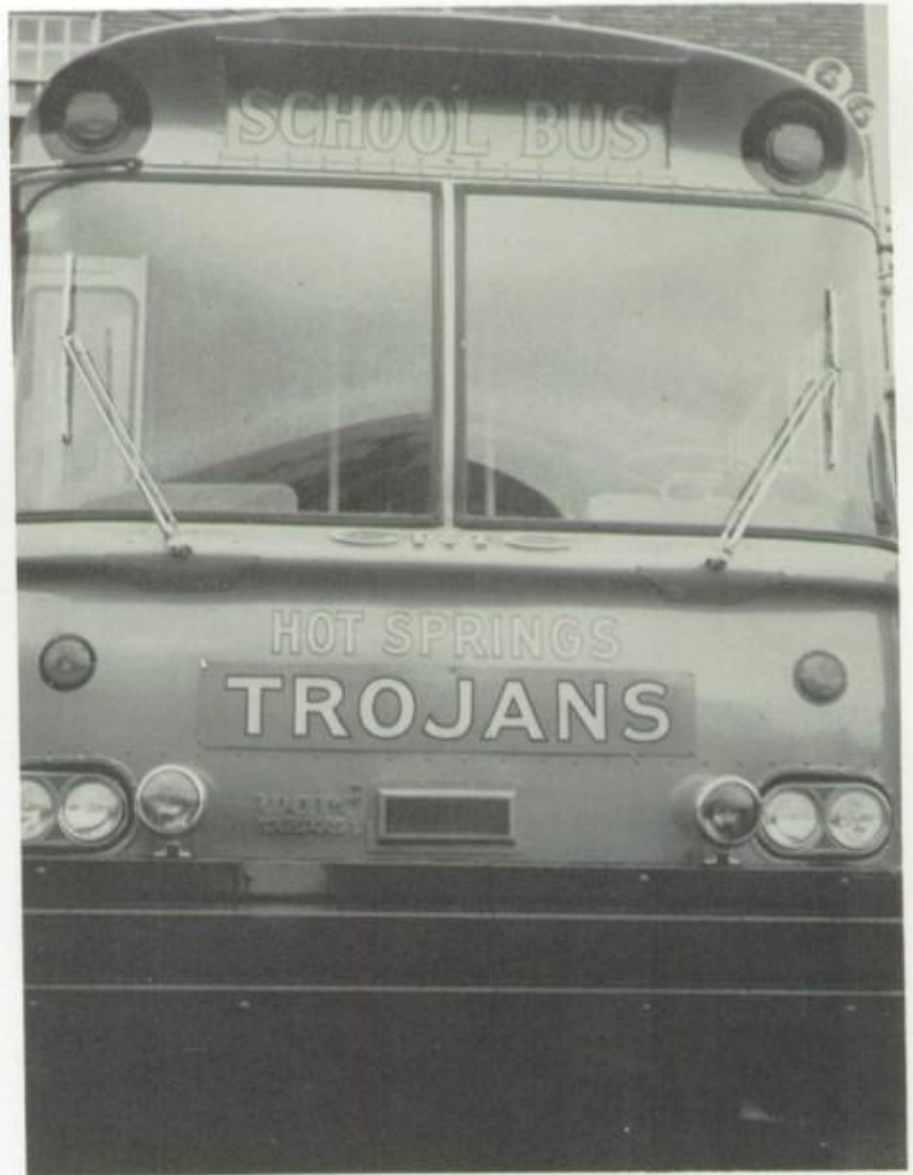

RELIGIOUS WINNER. Marsha Perrine, Mike Warr, Jill Wilson, Nancy Meeks, Jim Monk, Chan Church, Carol Heinemann, Charles Pranter, and John Jucas all contributed to Mrs. Crane's door to win first place.

Trojan Spirit prevails within TROJAN SPIRIT. Peppy cheerleaders exert all their energies to cheer the Trojans while the entire student body displays respect for the men of Troy in another way.

TROJAN WAR HORSE. The new gold, air-conditioned school bus transports the athletic teams and warns passers-by: "Here come the Hot Springs Trojans!"

TREMENDOUS T. Teddy Orrel is "clipped" by the second-year lettermen.

ALMA MATER

*There's a school we all love dearly,
We call her old Hot Springs High,
And for her, our Alma Mater,
We will fight and die.
We will cheer her on to victory.
Oh, let our voices ring true,
And our hearts be ever loyal,
Dear old Hot Springs High, to you.*

hese red brick walls

Little things like bumper stickers and decals, and greater ones like songs and shouts bind HSHS students in the intangible web of spirit. Certain words and sounds, people, and traditions are so much a part of Trojan life that it would be incomplete without them.

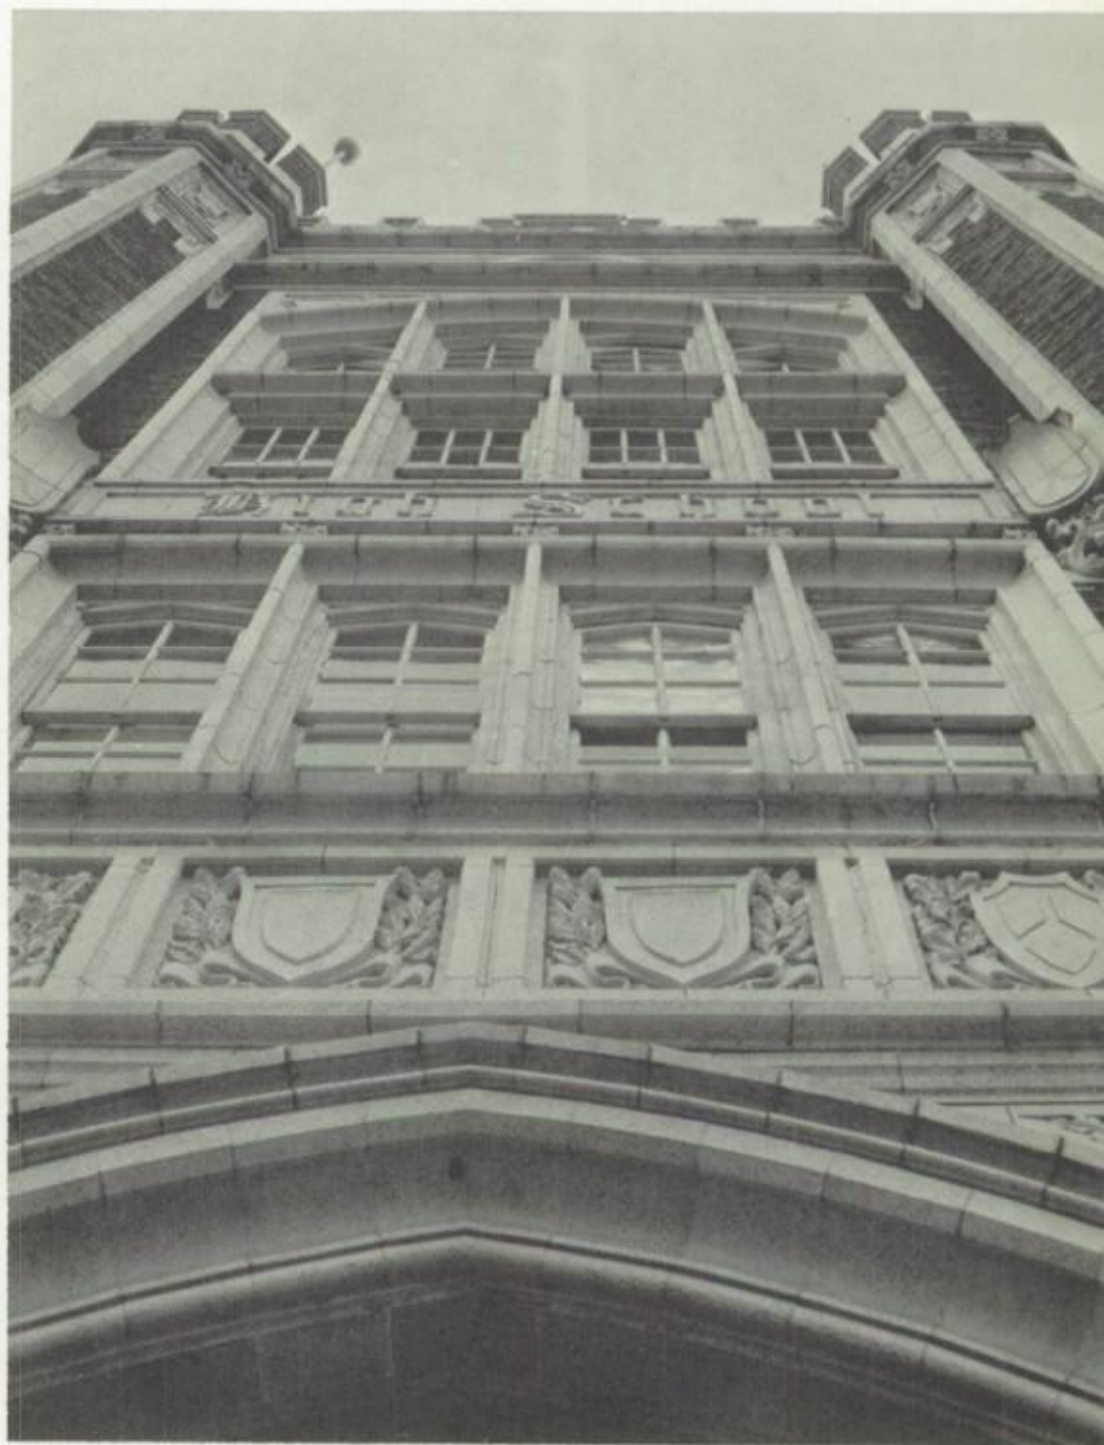

From their first day as sophomores when they battle upperclassmen for the privilege of entering the front door, to the last night as seniors when the prize is a diploma, inexplicable ties — some obvious and exuberant, others subtle and silent — ensnare the students and make them a part of the Trojan Tradition.

Even if they don't know about the front door, sophomores have an inborn feeling for the Trojan Head. This patch of concrete and paint is a precious thing to be defended from inadvertent carelessness or malicious defamation by an enemy footstep.

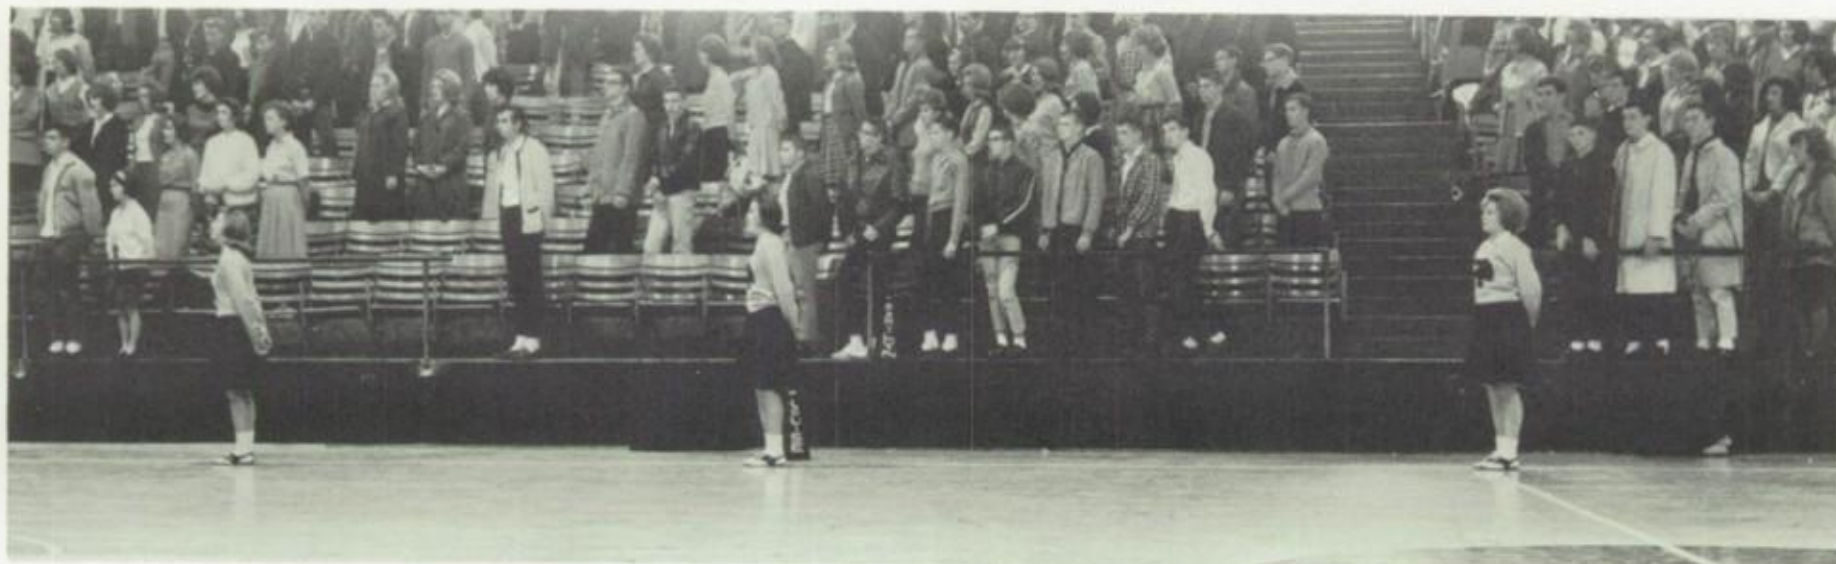

Unique tune and universal sentiment combine to make the Alma Mater thrilling. Reverently sung to "The Long, Long Trail," its words take on special meaning for students and old grads. The crowds burst with the shouting of Hallabaloo, Locomotive, and Battle Cry. Tradition, loyalty, and excitement mount and overflow as the band plays "Southern Special," "Go Trojans!" and then "Dixie" — the second national anthem.

Trojans are proud of the image they present. Atop the hill at Oak and Orange, HSHS is visible for great distances. The majestic arch and columns, the tiled halls and high ceilings, a field house with auditorium seats — all contribute to the solid, impressive appearance of the school.

Quiet spirit, like keeping the grounds clean and protecting the Trojan Head, is as much a part of HSHS as the wild yelling at pep rallies and games. Both show the attitude students have toward their Alma Mater. They're part of what it means to be a Trojan.

THROUGH THIS PORTAL. Students have passed beneath this arch during this year, many for the last time, but all of them will cherish the memories they have captured there.

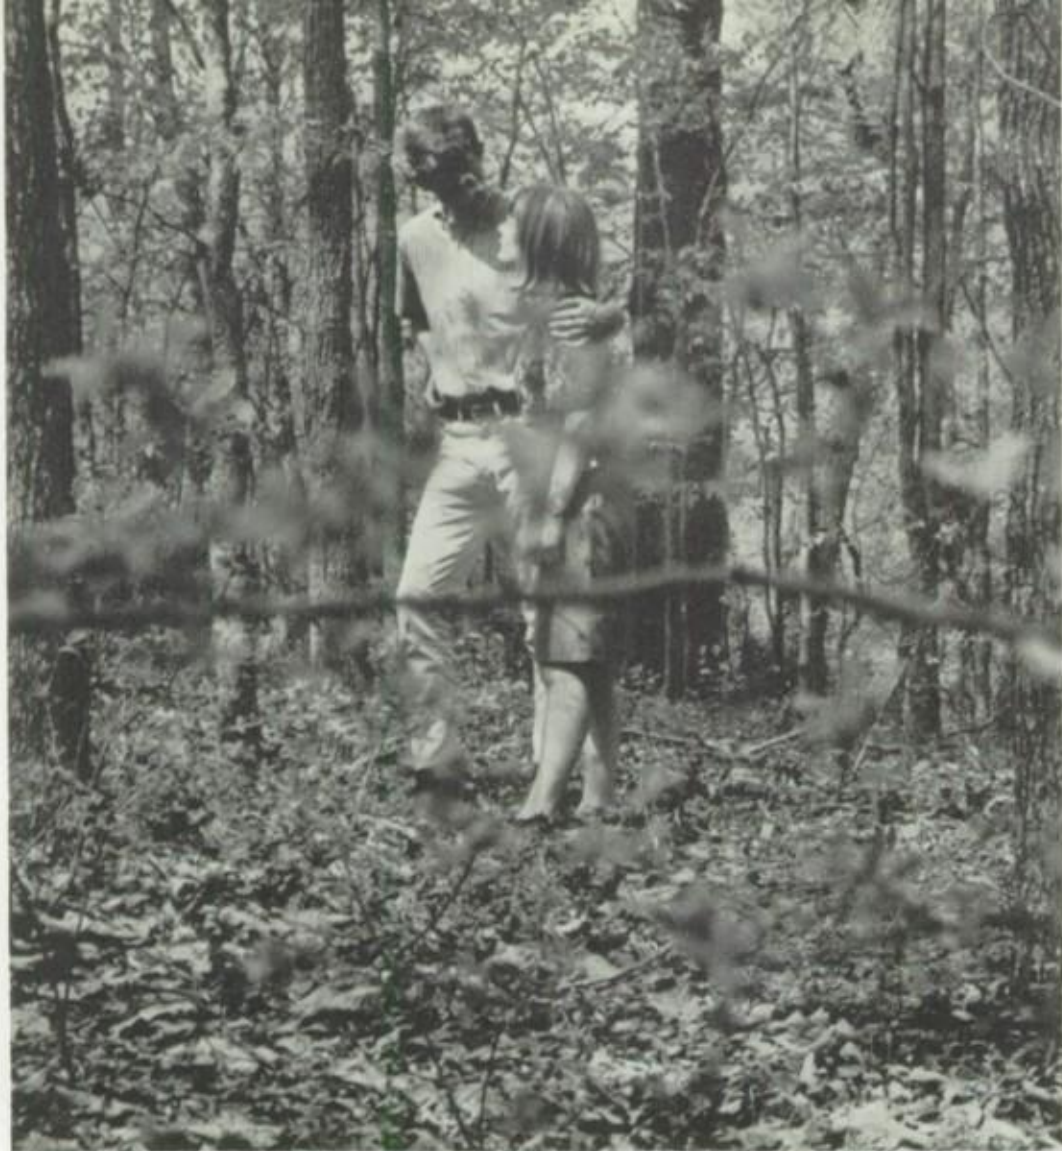

FRIENDS

*Make new friends,
But keep the old;
Those are silver,
These are gold.*

Parry

Laughter feels good inside—
breathless, uncontrollable
laughter.
But when you're alone, it's different—hollow.
Friends make good feelings—
a smile to share, a mutual serious thought, a fleeting glance of understanding.

FRIENDS

SENIORS

These are the seniors. For twelve years they have been absorbing knowledge, firing questions, suffering disappointments, cracking jokes, and making friends; but amid all this they have managed to keep their sense of values in proper perspective.

These are the leaders, the captains and presidents, the advisers. Seniors participate in every club and activity in the school. These experienced leaders guide the sophomores and juniors through the year. In any tight situation, seniors never seem to forget their ring and rank, which afford them a unique air of self-confidence.

All year, seniors have felt a special kinship with one another. This year their Alma Mater and Trojan Head have seemed especially dear to them, their love for one another especially warm, and their thoughts of next year especially hazy.

Wearing his graduation robe and reaching for his diploma, the senior is truly at a climax. Many of these will go to college; some will seek work. The field is open, and an unlimited future lies ahead. The choice now belongs to the senior. Which way will he go?

Confusion and fun fill Senior traditions

LAUGHTER AND FOOD GO TOGETHER as senior girls ignore the clutter filling the table and make the most of cramped eating positions. Regular lunchroom eaters recognize this table as being for senior girls, as they have "reserved" it the last three years.

JUNIORS

Juniors, now being the middle child of the large family at HSHS, find that they can no longer accept baby responsibilities. Occupied the year round, juniors join new clubs and extra-curricular activities. Cheerleaders, Traveling Chorus, T-Steppers, Anchor Club, Crown Club, Career Club, National Honor Society, and Pep Squad offer the juniors a chance to exercise their new discretion as they carefully choose which clubs to join.

Preparation for the Junior-Senior Prom rests on the shoulders of the Junior Class. With supervision, they select the theme and plan colorful decorations and amusing entertainment.

As the school year comes to an end, the juniors look forward to their chance to be "the head of the house."

SOPHOMORES

Wide-eyed, immensely naïve, and touchingly confused, sophomores stumble up the stairs and down the halls their first days in the wonderful maze of high school life. Finding it hard to believe they were ever as dumb as these innocent sophomores, the juniors and seniors laugh at their blitheness.

In as little as one week, sophomores find their way around and merrily trudge from the fourth floor of the "Big House" all the way to Lee. After the first days in which the juniors and seniors keep the down-graded but hardheaded sophomores off the front steps, the sophomores have become fellow workers in the sometimes difficult but rewarding high school life.

But each year, the sophomores prove their ability to work and live in the fast-paced world of high school. They show their dependability in the Trojan Band, Trojan Chorus, Thespians, Les Elites, Spanish Club, Beta Club, and Junior Classical League.

EPILOGUE

So it is over, and all that remains is this book, which stands as a monument to a year of cooperative creative effort. If you haven't shared in the experience, you can never understand the love and feelings the creators develop for each other and their work. Let it suffice to say that this has been a good year — full of work, willing sacrifice, grudging compromise, denied pleasures, magic moments, sharing, giving, taking, blood, sweat, and tears. I would not trade a moment of the year. Our small editorial staff is terribly close. A hearty thanks to every member, for everyone worked hard, but an especial remembrance for these: Karo, my right arm and Mike's, for unfailing effort; Mike — the most stubborn, spoiled photographer anywhere, but my favorite — for all the beautiful pictures; Anna Hassin, who was always there and never griped; Judy, for hard work but mostly for the million laughs; Bobby, for boosting my morale; the two Beckys, for rewriting and rewriting; Mrs. H., for chaperoning; and Ann, for revision after revision and for keeping me in line.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY. Golden roses "nothing can stay but the memory" were a gift from my staff on my seventeenth birthday.

? Karo and Mike developed quite a friendship working together all year. I'm still not sure why she was out on top of the bridge.

Some of my help came from outside the staff. Greg Foster wrote the sports, often on a minute's notice. Danny Beacham lent us pictures, and our borrowed photographer, David Vann, saved the day more than once. A heartfelt thanks is due the teachers who excused staff members so we could meet our deadlines — not only does a miss cost money, it means a later book. Our theme poem, "Nothing Gold Can Stay," is from COMPLETE POEMS OF ROBERT FROST. Copyright 1923 by Holt, Rinehart and Winston, Inc. Copyright 1951 by Robert Frost. Reprinted by permission of Holt, Rinehart and Winston, Inc.

I hope you like the book. We created it with one idea — to please the reader. I want only one good rating — the one that comes from HSHS students. The book is close to my heart, a golden thing. The golden moments that flew by as we worked to create it are gone, for "Nothing Gold Can Stay," but it is our hope that OLD GOLD BOOK has captured a part of their image forever. The book is yours now. Enjoy it.
